Malahat Blaze Razes Home and Jumps Highway

Scenic Timber Stand Along Island Route Is Endangered as Fire Rages on Both Sides of Shawigan Cut-off Road; Unoccupied House Is Burned

Sweeping up from the Shawigan Lake cut-off road on the Malahat, a forest fire to-day had burned over sixty acres and was threatening fine scenic timber on the west side of the highway toward the summit.

The forest branch of the Department of Lands had a crew of eighty men fighting the blaze, in charge of Ranger Percy Sweetman of Duncan and Assistant Ranger Waldron.

One home was razed by the flames. An abandoned relief camp was threatened for a time and there were other living-quarters in the immediate neighborhood.

The fire was still raging along the mountainside at noon to-day and the firefighters said a stiff breeze might carry it over a wide area.

As far as is known, the fire broke out at a house, owned by Mrs. E. Coumbs, near the junction of the cut-off road and the Malahat Highway. The house was unoccupied at the time. It was destroyed.

After burning along a quarter-mile front to the southward of the cut-off, sweeping past an empty relief camp there, the flames jumped the road and climbed up the hillside. The gas station and store at the junction escaped damage.

Motorists traveling to Shawigan drove through a double line of flames. Firefighters were called out but had considerable difficulty combating the flames.

At the high altitude the wind was strong and fanned the blaze at a good rate along the ledges. Existence of numerous snags hampered the fighters.

Toward morning the flames subsided somewhat, but danger still existed of the fire sweeping on through timber owned by the B.C. Cement Company.

The forest stand there is not particularly valuable for its timber, but mainly for its scenic attraction.

The B.C. Electric Railway Company had their own crew out protecting their power lines, which run through the fire area.

TWO YEARS FOR HAVING OPIUM

Vancouver, Aug. 7.—A. E. Henderson was fined $200 and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Magistrate H. B. Wood to-day when he pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of opium. He was also charged with retaining stolen property and was sentenced to a year on that count, the sentences to be concurrent.

NEW VICEROY IS CHOSEN

Marquess of Linlithgow Will Succeed Earl of Willington Next April

London, Aug. 7.—The most difficult administrative task at the disposal of the British government, the leadership of the new India, will be entrusted to the forty-eight-year-old Marquess of Linlithgow.

The appointment of Lord Linlithgow as Viceroy of India in succession to the Earl of Willington, whose term of office will expire next April, was announced yesterday evening.

Some time after he takes office, perhaps a year afterwards, Lord Linlithgow will become the first Governor-General of a federated India on proclamation of the act granting India self-government with safeguards.

Skilled diplomat, master of compromise, and peculiarly intimate with India, Lord Linlithgow's appointment caused no surprise.

He was mentioned for the post of Governor-General of Canada—also in succession to Lord Willington—before the appointment of the Earl of Bessborough, in 1930.

JAPANESE GO TO ETHIOPIA

Reports Say Military Officers Bound There, But Officials Deny It

Addis Ababa, Aug. 7.—A rumor, officially denied but persistent, that a Japanese military mission had started from Kobe for Ethiopia circulated in the capital to-day.

It was presumed the rumored mission would serve as observers in the event of war between Ethiopia and Italy.

Another unconfirmed report had it that 3,000 gas masks of German manufacture had been shipped into Addis Ababa and that 25,000 more were on the way.

FEUD REPORT DENIED
A report in Pa. newspapers of a feud in Emperor Haile Selassie's family was officially denied by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. It was stated the emperor and his sons were "working in perfect unity" and that there was no truth to the Paris story that Crown Prince Asfa Wossen was considering a rebellion.

Hubert Julian, negro flier from Harlem, who has been appointed to command an Ethiopian division, started to work in earnest to-day. He appeared in the square facing the post office in the centre of the capital and sang out commands as he drilled a large number of tribesmen.

Tribesmen are flocking into Addis Ababa daily for service in the army.

BATTLE CITY
Warriors passed in review before Crown Prince Asfa Wossen screaming "Rahgume" (Mow them down); the battle cry of Addis, where Ethiopian troops once defeated the army of Italy. The tribesmen numbered 100,000.

LONG DOG TRIP IS PLANNED

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—H. B. Weber of Southey, Sask., intends to drive a dog team from Winnipeg to New York. All he needs is the team, and he was here to-day trying to find a backer. Weber is driving a dog cart from The Pas, Man., to Chicago. He left with thirty-five cents and his daughter, and he still had both when he reached the Illinois metropolis.

RIOTS DISTURB AFFAIRS IN FRANCE

Minor disorders in Brest to-day followed the violent rioting of the last two days, in which a worker was killed yesterday while the police were battling to disperse the mobs. Brest people saw scenes similar to that above, witnessed during a recent riot in Paris over the same issue as caused the outbreak at the port of Brest—pay cuts under the Lavat Government's economy programme.

Britain Makes Representations to Italian Government

London, Aug. 7.—An official source to-day disclosed the British government made "strong representations" to Italy, July 26, regarding "the recent violent attacks in the Italian press against Great Britain."

The representations were made through Ambassador Grandi of Italy by officials at the Foreign Office and it was stated he promised to inform his government of the British attitude.

Since that time, according to the same source, the British government has received no reply from Italy.

Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald became Acting Prime Minister of Great Britain to-day on the eve of an expected climax to the Anglo-Italian controversy over Ethiopia.

Uneasy over already frayed relations between Great Britain and Italy, the government, it was said, had decided to let France take the lead in next week's tri-power talks at Paris.

The decision was reached before Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin departed for a vacation at Aix-les-Bains, France.

Scattered Minor Disorders at French Seaport To-day After Two Days of Battles Between Crowds and Police in Which Man Killed and Fifty Injured

Associated Press

Brest, Aug. 7.—Protesting workers closed the naval shipyard here for the third successive day shortly after employees of the naval arsenal had returned to work to-day.

The men who had returned to their jobs under protection of gendarmes, soldiers and sailors were suddenly summoned to walk out by their leaders.

They were instructed to rally in their overalls around the body of a comrade slain in the rioting of the last two days.

Minor disorders occurred as the men swarmed into the streets where yesterday they battled the police. The dead comrade will be buried to-morrow. Fifty others were injured in the outbreak.

It was not long before Tipo was a master at the art of catching fish with his mouth, and his achievement is all the more wonderful because he taught himself. Tipo goes after perch mostly and will swim out into deep water to dive for prey. A month ago this small black dog caught nearly a hundred perch in one day, one by one, leaving the uneatable ones and bringing the palatable ones back to his master.

Shift Burden From Land To Income Tax; Abolish School Boards Is Plan

Explains New Taxation Plan

Scheme Would Institute Special Levy on Rental Values, Mayor Says

A flat rate of 15 mills on property, without any tax whatever on the capital value of improvements, and a new levy charged against tenants on the rental value of the property they used to meet physical maintenance requirements of the city, are the main features of the proposed new municipal taxation policy which will be sought from the provincial government.

Mayor David Leeming, whose scheme was generally approved at a special meeting on taxation matters in Vancouver yesterday, to-day gave further details of the plan which the provincial government will be asked to approve after it has taken over all social service charges from the municipalities, including police, education, health and unemployment relief.

"The whole object of the plan is to relieve land of the oppressive burdens that are imposed upon it under the present system," the mayor stated. "The first requisite is the assumption of social service charges, which are in no way related to the ownership of property, by the provincial government, which will levy for them from the people as a whole through an income tax, not a property tax," he continued.

Canadian Pharmaceutical Association to Hold Conference For Discussion of Uniform Education Scheme For Dominion Pharmacists

A meeting of heads of pharmacy colleges in Canada with members of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association to discuss uniformity in the education of Dominion pharmacists was proposed this morning by the twenty-third annual convention of the association at the Empress Hotel.

The conference will probably take place at the next convention of the association, the secretary having been instructed to send official communications to the college heads, asking them to attend the conference.

The joint meeting was proposed by Professor A. W. Matthews of the pharmacy department following the presentation of a paper by I. G. Garcia, pharmacist of St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, on "The Desirability of Reform in Canadian Pharmaceutical Education."

The suggestion met with the wholehearted approval of the delegates and may prove a big advance towards uniform education of Canadian druggists.

TO DISCUSS PRINCIPLES
The college leaders and druggists will discuss only the principles of education to be involved and the details will be worked out by the individual associations.

Mr. Garcia's paper was read by Dr. R. B. J. Stanbury, secretary, in the absence of Mr. Garcia, who was unable to attend the convention.

Section of West Coast Highway Will Be Open Again Next Week

Reconstruction of the Jordan River Bridge which was washed out during the January storms, will be completed next week and open for traffic, the Department of Public Works announced to-day.

When the bridge is completed the road will be open as far as Mile 5 1/2 past Jordan River. The advance construction camp is now located at Mile 8 and it is expected the road will be open that far by the end of the summer.

Meanwhile construction of the trail from the end of the road to Port Renfrew is proceeding and should be finished by the end of August.

TREKKERS TAKE CONTROL OF TRAIN

Sixty Board Cars Near Golden When Engine Fails on Greased Tracks; Twenty-eight Arrested in Railway Yard at Calgary

Calgary, Aug. 7.—Greased rails brought a freight train to a stop on a steep grade near Golden, B.C., yesterday afternoon, and sixty relief camp strikers boarded it and assumed control, police reported here to-day.

The strikers who had held a demonstration in Golden earlier in the day, had greased the tracks and when the train on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway was forced to halt, they clambered aboard.

It was reported here to-day that the town of Golden was virtually under control of the strikers during the demonstration Tuesday. One hundred and fifty men marched into the town, singing the "Red Flag," and paraded through its streets. Meetings were held protesting camp conditions.

Technical Adviser to Government Recommends Wide Overhaul in Methods of Taxing For Education Costs; Proposes Government Assume Full Responsibility

Relieve Cities Of $2,000,000

Income Tax and Sales Tax For Revenue With One Provincial School Levy on Land Is Scheme; Pay-as-you-go Policy For Buildings and Economies By Rationalizing System

Complete revamping of the administration and financing methods for B.C.'s educational system is proposed in the report of Harold B. King, technical adviser to the Weir-Hart Commission on School Finance, which was made public to-day by Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, after consideration by the cabinet yesterday.

The main proposal is that the provincial government ultimately take over full financial responsibility for education, thus removing onerous land taxes for schools.

Urban and municipal school boards would be relieved of their powers and abolished, and advisory electoral bodies set up in larger educational areas.

To finance education, he proposes a universal property tax of three or four mills based on assessments adjusted on a scientific basis, plus increases in the income tax or imposition of a sales tax, together with the sums now spent out of the consolidated provincial revenue.

This plan would have the effect, roughly speaking, of shifting $2,000,000 of school costs in organized municipalities and $1,000,000 in unorganized territories from direct land taxation to general provincial taxation.

To secure greater efficiency and proper control, Mr. King favors the province taking over the responsibility of education costs and would abandon the present system of local administration through school boards by substituting larger educational units and having a new type of governing body elected in each to work with a director of education and have special powers on purely local functions.

By changing the whole basis for school taxation, his plan would relieve municipalities of $2,000,000 a year in costs which would be transferred, through the government, from land taxation to income or sales levies. He offers alternative plans for either a three or four mill levy upon all real property. This, of course, would replace the heavy property taxes for schools now paid.

Every phase of the school cost problem is covered in the report which is printed in a volume of 230 pages for public distribution at a price of 10 cents.

waters, and needed a courageous far-seeing policy, with a fixed destination. He paralleled the situation with a ship battling nature's elements.

The suggestion which Mr. Garcia offered was bold, he realized, and he did not expect to see it accomplished "in the twinkling of an eye," but he offered it as a possible objective for Canadian pharmacy, to enhance the prestige of the profession.

BEST OF TEACHERS

To administer the educational policy, Mr. Garcia felt that teachers should be chosen with zealous care and only those employed who would inspire loyalty, integrity and honor.

Uniformity among pharmacists, with the writing of Dominion examinations, similar to those in the medical profession, should be carried out, he thought.

In this connection Dr. Stanbury drew attention to the fact that a Dominion Bill has been drafted at one time to promote uniformity but had been turned down by the provincial associations.

Uniformity, Mr. Garcia said, was an obvious need.

Subjects he suggested for a curriculum included mathematics, a selected branch of physics, chemistry and laboratory technique. Students should be taught also the study of liberal arts such as literature, in order that they might appreciate the finer things of life and not see the world only "through the bottom of a test tube."

The time was not far off, Mr. Garcia predicted, when pharmacies and drug stores would go their own separate ways. This training of pharmacists would provide their escape from a blind alley.

Mr. Garcia also favored post-graduate studies in pharmacy, and thought associations should encourage such study by the publishing of annual honor rolls commending students for meritorious post-graduate studies.

OUTLINE PROBLEMS

General problems in pharmacy throughout the Dominion were discussed by H. M. Corbett of Cremona, Ont., president of the Ontario College of Pharmacy council.

He outlined certain unfair practices in the business which could be rectified by the individual members and urged a better feeling among members of the craft in various cities.

Mr. Corbett quoted figures of business done by druggists in Canada during 1933, which aggregated $77,000,000. These he analyzed, showing over $32,000,000 was done in legitimate drug business while the remainder was revenue from products outside the drug line. He also pointed out that $17,000,000 worth of drug business had been done by outside stores, thus taking away legitimate business from druggists.

Mr. Corbett's talk, dealing largely with matters of a private nature, provoked considerable comment.

The education of the apprentice was discussed in a paper by Professor Matthews of the University of Alberta. This subject, he said, was one of vital concern to druggists, and apprenticeship training had drifted as a hit or miss proposition.

Apprentices should not be abused as cheap labor for pharmacists.

The chief weakness, he said, was the lack of control of the training which apprentices should receive. The speaker stated he had known instances of students having come into the university without having filled or helped fill a prescription and without having seen a copy of the British Pharmacopoeia. It was apparent that such cases were examples of exploitation as cheap labor.

The attention of the convention was drawn to a display of preparations which Prof. Matthews had his students arrange, of which Alberta druggists were justly proud.

This afternoon delegates and their wives took a motor tour around the city, winding up at R. P. Butchart's Gardens. This evening they will visit the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain.

School Report Proposes Drastic Changes

The important recommendation from a constitutional point of view is the proposal to wipe out the school boards. Around this recommendation a fierce controversy is forecast.

STAGES OF CHANGE

The reorganization, under the plan laid down, would be carried out in easy stages.

First he proposes the government take over rural districts in unorganized territory, much the same way as was done in the Peace River district. A uniform real property tax could then be levied in these districts, the personal property tax would be wiped out, and the rest of the bill made up out of consolidated revenue of the province.

Abolition of school boards in unorganized territory would go with this move and local advisers would be elected to work with the departmental administration.

He proposes that school boards in organized municipal areas should be left alone until the municipal schools can be absorbed into larger administrative areas. When this develops, a new type of governing body would be created with control only over projected by special levy.

TEACHERS' APPOINTMENT

Appointments of teachers and all others in educational posts would be removed from the hands of school boards and placed under an "appointments board" of educational officials. Decisions as to the construction of new school buildings would be vested in a special interdepartmental board within the government service.

A complete overhaul of land and improvement assessments on a scientific basis to equalize the uniform tax levy is then proposed.

Major King deals specifically with the problem of municipalities and recognizes that they need relief "at the earliest possible moment."

IMMEDIATE RELIEF FOR CITIES

Instead of the government restoring other grants and tinkering with the distribution of social service costs, he recommends all relief to municipalities be given through increased school grants or by taking over an increasing portion of the cost of education until the government is paying the entire cost with the exception of debt charges. He states, however, that for the purposes of more effective control, the government may have to take over the need for elementary school buildings will lessen, but more accommodation in junior and senior high schools will become necessary as well as the replacement of obsolete structures.

BUILDING FUNDS

Until the building fund can be built up, the loan method will have to be continued.

He strongly recommends a uniform system of school accounting to achieve economy and budget control. Major King calls attention to discrimination in school grants against districts which have adopted the junior high school system. Vancouver has suffered to the extent of $40,000 a year from this, he says.

Recasting of the school curriculum and improvement in teaching through better selection of candidates for teacher training is another recommendation.

ECONOMIES

A full chapter of the report deals with economies in school administration, calculated to save hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly.

In his proposed new financial set-up, Major King shows how an annual tax burden of more than $2,000,000 could be lifted off land in organized municipalities alone and transferred to income tax or sales tax.

Out of the total education bill of $9,000,000, approximately $7,000,000 is for education proper, the rest being debt charges on school buildings.

He would raise $2,360,000 of this by a three-mill levy on all real property and the government would pay the remaining $5,600,000.

Since the government, in 1933, paid $5,611,936 as its share of education costs, the extra amount it would have to pay would be $3,000,000 odd.

Municipalities paid out $4,960,000 in the same year. Under the proposed scheme they would still pay debt charges of $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 odd through the new three-mill tax. The net saving to land owners in organized districts would be $2,044,000. The other $1,000,000 to be paid out of provincial revenue would come off land in unorganized districts.

CAME INTO TITLE IN 1908

Victor Alexander John Hope, born in 1867 of an ancient and distinguished Scottish family, became the second Marquess of Linlithgow on the death of his father in 1908.

The latter was the first Governor-General of the Australian Commonwealth. The Hope family lineage, going back to the early seventeenth century, is studded with the names of fighters on land and sea, and not a few administrators. One of them, Henry Hope-Vere, grandson of the first Earl of Hopetoun, was Lieutenant-Governor of Canada before his death in 1789.

Lord Linlithgow was educated at Eton. He served throughout the Great War and was mentioned in dispatches. He was a Civil Lord of the Admiralty from 1923 to 1924, and deputy chairman of the Conservative Party organization the two following years.

His wife was the former Doreen Maud Milner, daughter of the late Sir Frederick Milner. There are twin sons and three daughters.

ARCHBISHOP PROTESTS

London, Aug. 7 (Canadian Press from Rome)—Italy's war-like measures in East Africa are sharply criticized to-day by the Archbishop of Canterbury in an article in the monthly bulletin of the archdiocese.

"It is with concern," the archbishop wrote, "that all who care for peace and the respect due to treaties must view the action of a state, pledged to refrain from resorting to war as an instrument of national policy, in massing her armed forces around another state precisely and expressly on the grounds of national policy."

"The people of Great Britain are bound to Italy by ties of long friendship. This friendship would be grievously strained if the powerful leader of that nation should prove to be unwilling to submit the dispute to an impartial tribunal and refrain from any acts which would commit his country to a horrible war and would imperil the structure of the world's peace."

IN LEAGUE FRAMEWORK

The London Times published a letter from Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, president of the League of Nations Union, declaring solution of the dispute lies in a solemn declaration from Great Britain maintaining her intention of insisting on action within the framework of the League of Nations.

The newspaper, commenting on Lord Cecil's letter, declares the action suggested in it "inapplicable."

MANY SHIPS

Port Said, Egypt, Aug. 7.—Approximately 240,000 Italian troops and laborers have passed through the Suez Canal in the last six months, en route to East Africa, official figures disclosed to-day.

In a single day recently, nine Italian transports laden with soldiers, airplanes, tanks and artillery explosives made the passage of the canal from the Mediterranean to the Red Sea.

Not all Italian transports are bound for East Africa, however. The statistics show that in the last three weeks, six large Italian steamers carrying more than 9,000 Italian soldiers suffering from malaria, dysentery and typhoid made the transit of the canal for Italy.

Officials estimated that in the last three months, the Italian Government has paid the Suez administration $10,000,000 in canal dues on war transports.

THREAT OF SPLIT REPORTED

Paris, Aug. 7 (Associated Press)—A feud in the family of Emperor Haile Selassie was reported to-day in a dispatch to the "Newspaper Matin from Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, to be threatening to split Ethiopia.

The Ethiopian heir apparent, Asfa Wossen, was reported to be embittered at preference shown to his younger brother, Makonnen, who was appointed governor of Harar province, and to disapprove of the Emperor's Italian policy.

The dispatch said Asfa Wossen, Governor of Wollo province, was turning more and more against his father daily and that an open breach appeared to be imminent.

The newspaper said these developments had caused the "King of Kings" to keep his imperial household at Addis Ababa rather than send them to the frontier.

ITALY CALLS UP OFFICERS

Rome, Aug. 7 (Associated Press)—The War Department summoned more potential officers for home and abroad to-day as the populace, aroused anew by Premier Mussolini's order constituting three new divisions, acclaimed his Ethiopian policy.

All prospective officers of the classes from 1896 to 1914 (men born in those years) who have not completed officers' training were ordered by the War Department to resume it by November 15. They will complete the training by next May 15.

The order also applies to pensioned officers under thirty-nine who "still aspire" to readmission to military service, as well as officers who have left the service because of foreign residence.

The popular excitement was reflected in turbulent demonstrations at San Remo and Aspi, headquarters for the two newly constituted divisions of regulars, and Milan and surrounding communities, from which the recruits will be drawn.

The press alternated in heaping praise on the "unwavering determination" of Italy and flinging derisive phrases at Great Britain and the League of Nations.

FOREIGNERS SAFE

Addis Ababa, Aug. 7.—Emperor Haile Selassie said to-day that all foreigners in Ethiopia would be safe in the event of war with Italy.

"Foreigners acquainted with us know danger does not exist for them in the event of a war," he explained. "The government envisages special measures for protection and security for foreigners and their property in case of hostilities or movements of troops in their vicinity."

The emperor once more lent substance to a belief he would follow the example of his famous grandfather, Emperor Menelik, and lead Ethiopian warriors against the Italians should the necessity arise.

"Our traditions and constitution require me to be commander-in-chief of the army," he said.

Nationalization of Education in Canada Would Be Economic Advantage, Says J. R. MacKay at Convention in Ottawa

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Misunderstanding as to the purpose of his remarks was believed by J. R. MacKay of Saskatchewan to have prompted Dr. J. H. Putnam, chief inspector of Ottawa schools, in his criticism yesterday evening of the suggestions relative to nationalization of education. Yesterday Mr. MacKay, president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, assembled here at its fourteenth conference, advanced the proposal that nationalization of the school system of Canada under certain conditions would be advantageous to the country.

Mr. MacKay explained his suggestion had an economic basis. Rural schools were indifferently financed, particularly since all financing was operated on the basis of the property tax. His suggestion of yesterday had been for the establishment of larger school units and a reversal of the present taxation system by which the municipalities pay 80 per cent of the school tax and the province 20 per cent.

"Now," continued Mr. MacKay, speaking at the conference to-day, "each province goes its own way in regard to education, resulting in disunity of education."

WANTS NO CONTROVERSY

"It was in the hope a controversy on the subject would not be raised until the conference had passed judgment," said Mr. MacKay. "My personal opinion is in no way laid down as the policy of the C.T.F., until the federation has passed on it. The problem of federal aid to education was brought to the attention of the conference by delegates from two provinces at last year's meeting in Toronto. In Canada, complete control of education was given the provinces by the British North America Act, and those who seek federal aid must first base the problem of amending this on the C.T.F.," he explained.

"Now," continued Mr. MacKay, "each province goes its own way in regard to education, resulting in disunity and disunion. Our schools need vision, which cannot be secured if we foster isolation in education. If we foster isolation in education, it is in a position to make any statement."

Reports reaching the government here claimed that with an over-supply of Russian timber on hand, the distributing company had slashed the price 22 shillings a standard (1,000 feet) and brought it to a level at which Canadian timber could not compete. On frequent occasions since signing of the 1932 empire trade agreement it has been necessary for the Dominion Government to insist on observance in the United Kingdom of Section 21 of the Canadian-United Kingdom trade agreement. In this clause the United Kingdom Government undertakes to prevent loss of markets to Canada through price cutting by such countries as Russia.

That is all I said," added the federation president. "The matter of national schools was not considered for one moment and Dr. Putnam's use of this term was somewhat misleading."

Strike Call On Great Lakes

Men Expected to Walk Off
Shipping on Inland Bodies of Water August 9

Toronto, Aug. 7.—Shipping on the Great Lakes will be tied up Friday noon when the call for a general strike issued by the National Seamen's Association for that time goes into effect.

Major shipping companies stated they have received a notification from Capt. H. N. McMaster, president of the National Seamen's Association, to the effect the strike had been called for noon August 9.

They declared they could not meet a demand for increased wages and would be forced to discontinue operations in the event of a strike.

Bankok, Siam, Aug. 7.—A great insurrectionary plot aimed at the overthrow of the government with wholesale death for officials was reported uncovered to-day among Siam's defence forces.

A number of non-commissioned officers, who allegedly planned to arrest and slay their superiors, assume command of the army forces and seize the administration, were reported arrested.

Prompt action by the government apparently frustrated the scheme. It was not considered likely the situation would become critical, although military forces were patrolling the streets of the capital.

A special court was established to try the revolutionaries.

Yosemite, Calif., Aug. 7.—Elizabeth Lorimer was rescued shortly before noon to-day from an isolated ledge on precipitous Half Dome. Rangers said she was in good condition despite the overnights cold to which she was exposed.

Miss Lorimer, aged twenty-three, of Chicopee, Mass., was hiking in Yosemite with Robert Pate, thirty-five, of Inglewood, Cal., and was unable to get off the ledge, on which she had gone in taking a shortcut.

Associated Press

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Aug. 7.—Macomb county authorities, investigating an allegedly illegal maternity home in St. Clair Shores, detained three persons to-day and said they expected arrests to follow.

Prosecutor Roy McKinstry said the woman accused of operating the home was hysterical when placed in a cell at the county jail and refused to answer questions. He declined to disclose her name.

Ferguson Tells British of Canada's Objections to Russian Price Cut

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain, has been instructed to take up with the British Government complaints that Timber Distributors Limited are offering Russian timber to the United Kingdom trade at greatly reduced prices, thus interfering with normal exports from Canada. Communications have been exchanged with Mr. Ferguson in the last two days, but Prime Minister R. B. Bennett said to-day he was not yet in a position to make any statement.

Reports reaching the government here claimed that with an over-supply of Russian timber on hand, the distributing company had slashed the price 22 shillings a standard (1,000 feet) and brought it to a level at which Canadian timber could not compete. On frequent occasions since signing of the 1932 empire trade agreement it has been necessary for the Dominion Government to insist on observance in the United Kingdom of Section 21 of the Canadian-United Kingdom trade agreement. In this clause the United Kingdom Government undertakes to prevent loss of markets to Canada through price cutting by such countries as Russia.

That is all I said," added the federation president. "The matter of national schools was not considered for one moment and Dr. Putnam's use of this term was somewhat misleading."

British Movies Are Expanding

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Aug. 7.—London is determined to become a full-fledged rival of Hollywood, it became apparent today. Big business has stepped into the British film industry. W. R. Smith Of Vancouver Dies

High School Principal Succumbs at Preston, Ontario

Preston, Ont., Aug. 7.—William Roswell Smith, Vancouver high school principal, died here yesterday following an operation. He was forty-four years old. The widely-known British Columbia educationist died within a few miles of his birthplace at Hespler. Mr. Smith came east early this summer to take summer lectures at the University of Toronto. Taken ill, he came here for treatment.

Educated at Hespler, Galt and the University of Toronto, Mr. Smith taught school at Penticton, B.C., for a number of years before going to Vancouver. He served three years in the Great War with the British army.

The body will be taken to Vancouver for burial. Surviving are the widow and one son, Douglas, his mother, Mrs. C. S. Smith of Winnipeg; four sisters, Mrs. Aaron Graeb, Preston; Mrs. Charles Lavender and Mrs. Harry Lavender, Winnipeg; and Mrs. J. Matthews, Seattle, and one brother, W. Earle Smith, Madison, Wis.

O'Neill, ex-American Legion chief, was on his payroll.

Tests of New Methods and Machines Are Put in Class of Military Secrets

Associated Press
Washington, Aug. 7.—The United States Army is tightening up on the lid it clamps on "military secrets."

The War Department has issued revised regulations designed to prevent certain information about new methods or machines of war from getting out.

The regulations, approved by General Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, authorize the chief of the air corps, ordnance and other branches to designate any secret research work, designs, tests, or productions of military equipment as "restricted projects."

Details of the "restricted projects" may not be made public or transferred to any unauthorized persons under penalty of heavy fine or imprisonment.

RAY TESTS

Officials and army officers put the new regulations into effect in declining information concerning tests of a new ray to detect airplanes or ships at long range. The tests are now under way in New Jersey. The War Department also recently refused to permit photographs to be made of the new Martin and Douglas bombers which are to be tested late this month in Dayton, Ohio.

All commercial companies, bidding on or engaged in production of army equipment, are required by the new regulations to sign agreements pledging the utmost secrecy about any equipment designated as "restricted projects."

Toronto Harbor Tunnel Voted

Toronto, Aug. 7.—The Toronto board of control yesterday approved a motion of Mayor James Simpson authorizing the Harbor Commission to join with the federal government in the construction of a tunnel to Hanlan's Point Island and to call for tenders for the construction of an airport at the western sandbar.

A special meeting of the city council was called for today to approve the board's decision.

Rod Riders Are Taken Off Trains

COYOTE HUNT IN SEATTLE

Mayor and Lieut.-Governor to Don Red Coats and Gallop After Hounds

Associated Press

Seattle, Aug. 7.—Staid old Capital Hill's impending fox (coyote) hunt gained city and statewide importance today by announcements from Lieutenant-Governor Victor Meyers and Mayor Charles E. "Ringbone" Smith that they would follow the hounds Friday morning.

Mayor Smith and his secretary, Rudy Block, attired in red and black, will be mounted on one horse, a jittery nag which survived the Seattle "spavin and ringbone" derby his honor sponsored last spring.

The Lieutenant-Governor, who conducts an orchestra, will be armed with a baton and beat the bush behind or ahead of the dogs, depending on how fast they sniffle along.

Robert O. Jones, a community newspaper publisher and master of the hounds, said the Capital Hill Hunt-Commercial Club, felt it advisable to have both the Mayor and Lieutenant-Governor present.

"We had to get gun permits through the mayor," Jones explained, "but most of all we want him around to keep the dog catcher away until the hunt is over. We don't want the pound wagon trundling off the pack just when the quarry is started."

"Now that it has been decided to carry shotguns—what, it's not sporting to shoot a fox?"—we thought we had better have Meyers there to pardon anybody who bags another hunter by mistake.

There'll be a rickshaw on the field to carry in the game or casualties, as the case may be.

MORE RED COATS NEEDED

Red coats were at a premium today and costume shops were scouting about for additional stocks. Jones set the pace, because he owned one and said he intended to wear it—to keep from being shot—and the rest of the hunters followed his lead.

With the hunters mounted on horses, bicycles and push-coasters, the hounds will be put down at 6 a.m.

behind St. Mark's Cathedral. They may either follow a gully or swing the chase through flower beds and over lawns, depending on the course the game takes and the number of cats in the neighborhood. Afterward, there will be a victory breakfast whether or not there is anything to celebrate. The decision to hold the hunt was made after frequent reports by residents of the hill that they had seen coyotes peeping from behind rose bushes and hedges.

"I thought it might help me get an education, too."

The court was told he had been given a suspended sentence a month and a half ago for stealing a suit of clothes.

IN THE FACE OF WAR, MAJOR FLOODS
and acute internal difficulties, the volume of internal business in China has remained amazingly stable throughout the world depression. Whether that stability can continue to be maintained in the face of the flooding of the Yangtze, and the continued advance in the price of silver, is a problem of no mean difficulty.

The last flood of the Yangtze in 1931 cost China 140,000 lives and damage to crops was estimated to amount to 900,000,000 Chinese silver dollars. The present flood is said to be of even more serious proportions. Moreover, business in China is dependent upon silver as a medium of exchange and with the price of silver declining rapidly from 1928 to 1931, business activity in China continued to increase.

In 1930 and 1931 there was a marked contrast between conditions in China and those in the rest of the world. In 1931 and 1932 the price of silver remained relatively constant, and in spite of the great flood to which we have referred, there was no major decline in the volume of business. In 1934 and 1935 there have been rapid advances in the world price of silver, and notwithstanding the efforts of the Chinese government to prevent this from having a deflationary effect, the fall in Chinese commodity prices and in real estate values has produced a critical situation. It is particularly unfortunate that another flood should accentuate the difficulties of the country at this stage.

In an address before the American Academy of Political and Social Science last November, Hon. Sao-Ke Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister to the United States, explained that when there is political discord in China, and even when there is considerable armed fighting, only local temporary and surface disturbances result; the underlying economic and social life of the people is not greatly affected.

Mr. Sze went on to state that the westerner would be surprised could he gain a full knowledge of the movement for social and economic reconstruction which has been under way in the face of such difficulties. "In result, I believe it is correct to say that nowhere else in the world, unless it be in Turkey, are there such profound changes taking place in all departments of national life as are to be observed in China." Where there were 3,000,000 children in the schools in 1921, the number is now said to be close to 15,000,000. Whereas, until recent years China was a field for foreign exploitation, Chinese are now financing and carrying out their own public undertakings and managing their own railways, foreign trade and manufacturing establishments.

Seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars of the budget of the Chinese Economic Council have been devoted to the establishment of a commission for the silk industry with a view to studying problems involved in production, spinning and marketing. It is said that whereas the cotton industry employed 4,564 looms and 1,009,000 spindles in 1915, it employed 52,850 looms and 6,400,000 spindles in 1934 and production has risen from 50,000,000 square yards to 1,130,000,000 square yards in the interval.

Twenty years ago, stated Mr. Sze, China had hardly 100 miles of road throughout her entire area, and now China has more than 40,000 miles of improved roads and many more under construction. "During the past two years alone," he declared, "roads built with the help of the National Economic Council amounted to 4,000 kilometres, or about 2,600 miles." At present a railway to connect north and south China from Hankow to Canton is under construction, the extension of the Lung Hai railway is facilitating the development of the northwest and the new Chekiang-Kiangsi-Hunan railway is expected to bring about closer economic and cultural relations between the southeast provinces.

In 1931, when the Yangtze flood affected an area of 70,000 square miles inhabited by 25,000,000 people, producing crop losses amounting to $900,000,000, one million Chinese workers under the direction of Chinese engineers repaired the damages in record time. In Sir John Hope Simpson's report to the League of Nations on the flood, he said:

"When I first surveyed the flooded area I felt that the dikes could not possibly be repaired before the next flood season, but it was done within six months and by Chinese engineers. There was not a foreigner in the lot. . . . These dikes of ours were many of them 140 feet broad at the base and thirty feet broad at the top and they were thirty to fifty feet high. . . . At one time we had 1,400,000 people working on the main river dike. The amount of dirt used would put a dike around the earth at the equator two metres thick and two metres high."

THE CENTRAL BANK

EMPHASIZING HIS ADVOCACY OF A central bank under public control, in his radio address on Friday, Mr. Mackenzie King quoted from a speech made by himself in the House of Commons in 1933, in which he urged that the party of which he was the leader stood for the immediate establishment of a properly constituted national central bank to perform the functions of rediscount, and the control of currency issue considered in terms of public need.

In the same speech in the House of Commons, the Liberal leader pointed out that the question then to be determined was whether Parliament, representing the people of Canada, would create a great financial institution which would control the credit and currency of the country, place that institution in private hands, hand over to it many of the powers which the government at that time was exercising, and transfer to it such gold reserves and securities as it had in its possession, or whether the institution to which these rights, powers, possessions, and privileges were to be given would be subject to effective measures of government control.

The government chose the first alternative, that is to say, it created a central bank, owned privately and destined to be under private control. To that course the Liberal party is unalterably opposed, and Mr. Mackenzie King's speech on Friday reiterating his remarks in the House of Commons in 1933 and 1934 makes this perfectly clear. "Nor can there be any question that the policy he has consistently advocated on this subject has the approval of the great majority of the Canadian public."

JAPAN'S TURN?

THE ANNUAL GRAND MANOEUVRES of the Japanese navy are under way now, and the Island Kingdom's fleet is going through strategic exercises somewhere in the northwest Pacific in the vicinity of the Kurile Islands.

A few weeks ago the United States performed its exercises in the Pacific. Now the Japanese fleet is doing just what the United States fleet did—and just as no one in the United States is in the least worried by this Japanese action, it seems fair to assume that the action of our neighbor's fleet caused no real worry on the other side of the Pacific.

As a matter of fact, a good deal of fuss was made over nothing. The United States fleet practiced the manoeuvres it would use in case of war with Japan; now the Japanese fleet is practicing the manoeuvres it would use in case of a war with the United States—and who, on either side of the water, has been harmed?

A SUCCESSFUL VICEROY

LORD WILLINGTON, WHOSE TERM of office as Viceroy of India will expire next spring, will leave a record of administration unsurpassed by perhaps any of his predecessors over a long period. When he accepted the appointment to the great Asiatic dependency on the expiration of his term as Governor-General of Canada, the outlook there was unpromising, to say the least, and in some quarters there was doubt that his indifferent health would stand the strain.

India then was in a condition of serious unrest. Gandhi was at the summit of his influence upon millions of the population in his policy of passive resistance to government measures. Other strong currents of hostility were running through diverse political groups revolving around the proposal for the extension of wider powers of self-government to India. Some agitated for complete independence, others wanted the British government to divest itself of the control over certain fundamental services, which was to be retained in London. In fact, India was smouldering, and Lord Willington could not have contemplated his task with any equanimity.

But he knew his India, and that was why he was chosen. He had been Governor of Madras, Governor of Bombay, and had other associations with the country. This knowledge and experience were very shortly evident in his approach to the difficulties and problems which confronted him. His tact, understanding and firmness eventually won the confidence of the large majority of the people, in consequence of which, it will be noted, that neither Gandhi nor his passive resistance movement, nor the elements which made for turbulence in other directions, are often found in the headlines of the world press to-day. He laid an admirable foundation for the gradual extension of self-government authorized by the India Bill adopted by the Parliament of Great Britain, and his successor will find the situation much easier than that which existed four years ago.

Victoria has had a special interest in the fortunes of Lord Willington as Viceroy of India, for during his term as Governor-General of Canada he was made the first freeman of this city. The only other freeman is Mr. R. P. Butchart.

RESTLESSNESS

The urge to grow; the urge to climb,
I count the greatest gift of time.

This is the dream that leads us on:
Always to better what is gone;

To build, to fashion and invent
Peace at the forge of discontent;

Always to look at life and see
Olimpuses of better days to be;

Ever to walk with restless feet
A world that never is complete.

What good were Times should down the sun
Upon a day when dreams were done,

When every venture had been tried
And all mankind were satisfied?

Then we should merely live and browse
As dumb and placid as a cow.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

TIME WORKS WONDERS

The Saint John Telegraph-Journal

De Valera has until lately appeared likely to prove an exception to the rule that revolutionaries given responsibility discover that after all existing forms work best. At last, however, he seems to be going the road of others in the empire who yearned for republicanism and "independence." As yet he has not gone far, but it would not be surprising to see him soon as strong for the empire as South Africa's General Hertzog.

AN IMPORTANT FACT

The Winnipeg Free Press

Can wages and prices be jacked up by a squad of federal boards sitting at Ottawa and issuing orders? This is the heart of the issue, and a mere statement of it gives the answer. The country cannot be made richer than it is, and the incomes of workers and producers cannot be increased by nominating boards to regulate the flow of trade. The country's wealth, and thus its average standard of living, can be increased in only two ways, by an absolute gain in production and by an improvement in the exchange value of its goods. The Price Spreads Commission, in its majority report, has completely ignored this simple truth. It has entirely overlooked the importance of foreign trade to Canada and the fact that low wages and low farm prices in Canada, due from the disastrous shrinkage of its overseas markets. Nothing that regulatory federal boards can do will bring back these markets and affect the basic cause of the economic maladjustments which the Price Spreads Commission investigated.

Loose Ends

The Emperor of Transjordan says "a mouthful of the London business is more serious—The messenger boys are incorruptible—And we continue to organize."

By BRUCE HUTCHISON.

FOREIGN POTENTATES

IT'S GETTING so that you have to be careful what you say about foreign potentates. The other day some fellow in Ottawa said something about Mussolini, and an Italian gentleman of that city challenged him to a duel, but this interesting event, alas, was not allowed to occur. This week "Vanity Fair" publishes a cartoon of the Emperor of Japan and the Japanese government, which is not especially noted for its sense of humor, immediately protested, through its ambassador, to the United States government, which is so used to seeing its head lampooned in every possible fashion that it must have been a little surprised; the distinction, of course, being that the President of the United States is merely a politician while the Emperor of Japan is the Son of Heaven.

You have got to be careful what you say about foreign potentates, but I take it that there is no harm in repeating what one foreign potentate says about another. It remained for the Emperor Abdullah of Transjordan to say this priceless thing about the Ethiopian business: "Personally, I do not like Mussolini. His manner of speaking and the way he appears in photographs make me imagine him to be a cheap comedian. His pompous personal demonstrations do not appeal to the Arab, accustomed as we are to the simplicity of the Sahara."

If one were not afraid of being challenged to a duel, one might say that, as from the mouths of babes and sucklings, the proper thing to be said about Mussolini has come out at last, of the desert of Transjordan. The Emir Abdullah, in brief, doesn't like Mussolini's face. How many European diplomats have yearned to say just that? It must be great to live like a free man in the desert, Emperor, you said a mouthful.

INTERNATIONAL INCIDENT

A RATHER MORE serious international incident than either the Italian or Japanese is reported from London. There the new Minister of Labor, Mr. Bashan Brown, a heavy gentleman with little imagination and no appreciation of art, has decided to deport the American chorus ladies who have been cheering the guests at Dorchester House and Grosvenor House. The managers of these two swanky hotels said the American chorus ladies were of enormous value in attracting business. Indeed, the Dorchester was losing money hand over fist until they acquired the American artists.

This seemed like a pretty serious reflection on the beauty of the English female. A worse insult to Albion followed. President Frank Gillmore of the Actors' Equity Association in New York said it was unnecessary for the United States to retaliate against Britain because of its treatment of the Grosvenor and Dorchester girls. It was unnecessary because English chorus ladies aren't imported into the United States. They aren't good looking enough.

And, said Mr. Gillmore, the American ladies who are exported to England and cause such a flurry over there are only "cheap labor, inexperienced, without professional standing, and their work comes under the class of labor rather than art." Is England going to take this reflection on its natural beauty? I mean, a normal people may not get mad about caricatures or lampoons on its rulers, but they don't like foreigners to say such things about their women; even if they suspect them to be true.

WE ARE PURE

THE UNITED STATES SENATE is digging up some jolly dirt about the public utility corporations and their lobby. It has found out how thousands upon thousands of telegrams with faked signatures were sent to members of Congress by barons of electrical power who were opposed to Mr. Roosevelt's public utility legislation. They even found a telegraph messenger boy who told they had been paid $100,000 apiece for any signatures he could get for telegrams protesting against the legislation. The messenger boy added that he himself was neutral in the argument, a very laudable position. One is happy to know that the telegraph boys are incorruptible.

It was also brought out that the lobbyists destroyed all their papers and other evidence, including copies of the faked telegrams, that had cost $100,000 (which, by the way, will be paid by the consumers of electricity). All this is very depressing to the citizens of the United States, but, by contrast, it is highly cheering to Canadians. In this country everything is so well managed that our Parliament doesn't even find it necessary to investigate our barons of electrical power.

JACKASS

THIS NEWSPAPER is usually pretty careful to publish in its news columns only news. The other night it suffered a grievous lapse from this excellent rule. It published a story, together with a picture, to the effect that the voice of a jackass was going to be broadcast over a national United States network. This wasn't news.

ORGANIZATION

IT IS RATHER weird to see how our peculiar form of society divides itself into an infinite number of organizations like atoms rushing together to form molecules. I mean to say, what kind of civilization is it that produces the newly-revealed New York State Association for Cemetery? This jolly organization recently held a convention, with all the jolly trimmings, including "ideals," which, along with a good supply of stimulants, are essential to all successful conventions.

Apparently nowadays no man is satisfied unless he is in some organization or other, even if it is only a cemetery. I think that I am the only man left in civilization who belongs to none whatever. (A fellow wrote me from Boston the other day, indeed, doubting that I even belonged to the human race.) Having once joined something, apparently the human animal can't be satisfied until he has rushed about joining everything, like a goldfish eating flies, until he is an Elk, Eagle, Buffalo, Elephant and Guinea Pig all at once, though I am bound to say that many men get to the top simply by remaining Rabbits or Skunks as nature made them.

Apparently almost no field has escaped organization. It would be nice to fight against this universal urge to organize, but to do it you would have to form a new organization. You simply can't do anything without organization. Why, they even have an organization in Britain now to fight the theory of evolution and I shall expect shortly to see another organization to fight the organization which is fighting the theory of evolution.

Now, it is high time that the innumerable gentlemen who write to this newspaper in favor of evolution should form an organization of Writers to the Editor in Favor of Evolution; and there should be likewise a Society of Writers to the Editor Against Evolution, and, finally, and much more essential, a League for the Protection of the Public From Writers to the Editor For and Against Evolution.

Movie Distributors

In U.S. Court Test
Associated Press

Washington, Aug. 7.—The United States Justice Department said yesterday it was seeking a preliminary injunction in federal court at St. Louis to restrain several large motion picture distributing companies from alleged violation of anti-trust laws.

The action was aimed at Warner Brothers Pictures Inc., RKO Distributing Corporation, Paramount Pictures and others.

The department complained against "the making of contracts for motion pictures for the 1935-36 season which will prevent the operators of three St. Louis theatres from procuring the necessary pictures."

RELIEF

To the Editor:—With reference to your article in Saturday's Times headed, "Say Relief Is Abused," it certainly calls for an answer. Alderman Hunter states he knows of dozens of cases where men on city relief using taxis to go to town and placing $5 bets on the races. Now, the alderman knows perfectly well that such is not the case. What caused him to make such a wild statement is beyond me? A married man, on city relief, with children, has rather a hard road to travel, and the only race he is able to bet on, say, for a place, would be Escondido, through worry, or Ross Bay, through starvation. So, please, Mr. Alderman, snap out of it and handle the truth more carefully. If you and the other aldermen are so sure that such a state of affairs exists, well then, there is only one alternative and that is to call for the resignations of the relief officer and his four investigators on the grounds of incompetency.

CUMBERLAND MINE CLOSED

Company Charges Employees Violated Agreement

Cumberland, Aug. 7.—Charging that the employees had violated their agreement with the company by laying off work, the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd. yesterday evening posted notice of discontinuance of operations of Number Five Mine, and ordered the men to remove their tools from the colliery.

The sudden move followed refusal of the men to accept the contract system of operation proposed by the company. They called a holiday today to discuss the situation. This, it was stated by company officials constituted a breach of the agreement, and as it was claimed to be the second occasion upon which the men had walked out without permission, quick action followed.

Some 500 employees of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., Number Five Mine, thrown out of work by the company's discontinuance of operations, planned to hold a meeting later to-day.

Good Profit On All-Sooke Day

Celebration Cleared $900, Community Association Is Informed

Sooke, August 7.—A general meeting of the Sooke Community Association was held in the Sooke Hall on Monday evening with H. Goodrich in the chair.

The finance report was read by the secretary, A. F. Brownsey, and adopted. A report of the all-sooke day celebration showed a net profit of over $900. This amount exceeds the profits last year by $300. Two lots, as well as the present Sooke Hall, have been paid for and are now owned by the community.

Plans of the hall were discussed and it was left to the committee to find out what type of hall is needed in this district.

It was decided to hold a dance in the Sooke Hall in the near future, with A. E. Dunlop and Col. C. B. Schreiber in charge.

A special meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of Holy Trinity Church will be held at the home of Mrs. S. Murray on Friday evening.

A meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Sooke branch of the Canadian Legion will be held at the home of Mrs. F. Thornber on Friday.

"Snake-room" Is Not For Snakes

Empress Hotel Guest Disappointed When Husband Unable to See Snakes Because Room Was Closed.

The "snake-room" is a conventional expression not to be used literally, but apparently its use is not as widely known as it might be.

At least this is what delegates to the twenty-third annual convention of the Canadian Pharmaceutical convention surmise after an experience in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

At the convention registration table it was advertised that the "snake-room" would be closed at 2:30 o'clock.

A lady and her husband, who were hotel guests and not attending the convention, were passing by when the wife, after seeing the notice, turned to her husband and said:

"Isn't it too bad, dear, I'm sure you would like to have seen the snakes."

Amateur Night Is Scheduled

"Rustlers" to Provide Showboat Features This Evening; Band Enjoyed

Amateur entertainers will hold the spotlight again in this evening's programme on the Inner Harbor Showboat, following a delightful presentation by the Fifth Regiment band, under the direction of Al. Prescott, yesterday evening.

"Slim" Hunter and his "Rustlers" will be the feature entertainers this evening. Starting next Monday, each Monday will be amateur night. Winners during the ensuing series will compete for prizes with a total cash value of $250 at the final grand amateur night set for September 16, it was announced by T. H. Eslick, secretary of the Tourist Trade Development Association, which is sponsoring the events in the Inner Harbor.

To-morrow evening J. W. Buckler will lead the Masonic Choir in what promises to be an excellent programme.

MUSICAL TOUR
Yesterday evening, while Mr. Eslick gave a short description of various countries and states, from London to the United States and across the latter country, the Fifth Regiment band provided selections of appropriate music. Solos were rendered by Harry S. Hay.

At the conclusion of the musical tour, the band presented a number of other selections, including gems from light opera.

SILENT HONOR FOR VETERANS
Tribute to druggists of Canada who made the supreme sacrifice and gave their lives for their country in the Great War, was paid by delegates attending the twenty-third annual convention of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, at a luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday. The occasion was the anniversary of Canada's entry into the war. The members stood in silent tribute.

W. H. Bland, convention chairman, told the delegates seven druggists had received the Victoria Cross for their services, twenty-one received Distinguished Service medals and 192 were mentioned in dispatches.

George Samworth, Vancouver, one of the original "Old-Contemptibles," was called upon and received a warm ovation. He suggested that the Canadian Association might draw up a roll and register of chemists who had served overseas and suggested such a move had not been undertaken before.

TO DEMOLISH OLD CHURCH

Victoria's house of worship which became the home of a newspaper, changed into a job printing office and then became a garage before it degenerated into an unused eyecore and fire menace at the corner of Gordon and Courtney, will be torn down shortly.

A permit for its demolition, at a cost of $500, was issued by the city building inspector's office to J. A. Rendell yesterday.

Early in the city's history the building was used by the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The building was condemned shortly after May 24, when a rocket from the fireworks landed on the roof and threatened to start a fire. It is owned by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd.

DUNCAN GOLF

Duncan, Aug. 7.—The Cowichan Golf Club committee met Monday afternoon. Col. A. F. M. Slater was appointed acting captain during the absence of the captain, T. A. Kings-rote, who is holidaying in the east. Major F. Warner has offered a cup for competition among war veterans. It was announced. This will be open to all veterans and will be played for on Armistice Day.

Mrs. H. Benesley and Olive Phillips-Wolley were appointed as temporary members. The handicaps of C. L. James, R. W. Whidden and Alec Orville were reduced to twenty.

Stories in STAMPS

The Magyars had scarcely settled in Europe, in the region that is now Hungary, when one of their earliest leaders, Geza, fourth duke of Hungary, saw a vision of the martyred St. Stephen. The saint told the ruler he would have a son who would continue the work the duke had begun.

That son, named for the great saint, soon won the admiration and aid of Pope Sylvester, for he spread Christianity throughout his dominions and improved the lot of his people. For this work, the Pope recognized Stephen as king of Hungary and sent him a crown and a cross to be borne before him. Devoted to the church, throughout his reign, Stephen became one of the most beloved rulers of Hungary.

On his death in 1038, at the age of sixty-one, Stephen was canonized. Today, Hungarians also remember him by his portrait on one of their stamps.

MARKET FOR RABBIT WOOL

Members of the British Columbia Rabbit Breeders' Association yesterday evening heard an encouraging report stating a steady market in Canada had been established for short wool. One and two-john wool, formerly disregarded in favor of longer strands, now claimed a price of $2 a pound, the members were informed at their meeting. A more stable market was indicated.

The breeders discussed plans for a more elaborate show at the provincial exhibition here this year. Indications pointed to an entry of between 150 and 200 rabbits of the Flemish, White New Zealand, Rex and Angora breeds. Displays of weaving and fur craft, along with spinning will be a feature of that section of the show.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Early!

The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A more powerful movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Health Insurance Bill Is Reviewed

Dr. Alton Peebles Tells Druggists of Proposed Legislation For British Columbia; Government to Welcome Suggestions For Improvements

"Within the next ten years several Canadian provinces will have adopted health insurance legislation," predicted Dr. Alton Peebles, the British Columbia technical advisor on state health insurance, told delegates to the twenty-third annual convention of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association yesterday. Dr. Peebles was the guest speaker at yesterday's luncheon session.

The speaker reviewed the studies of the provincial government on the subject and presented to the delegates a comprehensive review of the draft bill which the government has prepared.

British Columbia had been studying the problem since 1918, Dr. Peebles said. Later, in 1920, a committee had considered the problem and subsequently a Royal Commission had been appointed and rendered a report recommending compulsory health insurance in 1929.

The legislation under way in British Columbia was part of a general move in Canada to secure state health laws. He referred to the legislation passed in Alberta and said the matter was also under study in United States. The British Columbia effort was therefore part of a broad social tendency, he said.

INADVISABLE PLAN

Dr. Peebles did not think federal control of health laws was advisable. The field of federal participation would probably work out the same as old age pensions had done.

With reference to the British Columbia draft bill, Dr. Peebles said the procedure of the provincial secretary had been unusual in that he had prepared an act not purporting to be final which had been complemented by many experts on the problem. The purpose of the draft was to provide frank and open discussion, he said.

The bill was intended to cover all employees under $2,400 a year. It would cover rural groups when endorsed by the people, indigent persons and those under $2,400 who were not classed on a voluntary basis. There was also a provision for the exemption of certain classes while all wage earners receiving over $200 a month would be covered under a voluntary plan for insurance against hospitalization.

FINANCING EXPLAINED

The scheme was to be financed on a basis of 3 per cent of salaries contributed by employees and 2 per cent by employers. Rural municipalities would be offered the option of raising the money by internal taxation, he said. The province was to pay one-half the costs of administration and the full cost for indigents. Voluntary contributors would pay expenses as arrived at on a per capita basis.

One of the fine features was the elasticity of the draft, Dr. Peebles said. The act had in mind the establishment of benefits in accordance with the judgment of the health insurance commission.

Dealing with the proposed medical benefits it was intended to include: medical practitioner, maternity care, hospitalization with limitations (three weeks free after which the patient pays 25 per cent up to ten additional weeks for ward rates); drugs, medical surgery and other supplies. There were to be limited dental and nursing benefits. Under cash benefits a patient was to receive one-half his weekly salary up to $10 after seven days.

COMMISSION IN CHARGE

It was proposed to administer the act with a commission of five members, including the director of social welfare, the administrator of the act, the medical director, the chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board and the chairman of the Board of Health, he continued.

Representatives of several professions were to act in an advisory capacity, including three members to be named by the British Columbia Pharmaceutical Association. This body would select drugs for dispensation and make price arrangements.

The minister realized that co-operation with professional groups was necessary for the success of the act, Dr. Peebles stated.

Insured persons would be required to pay one quarter of the cost of drugs and medicines prescribed by the attending physician, while not less than $1.20 and not more than $2.20 a year would be allowed to cover drugs, medical and surgical supplies.

The patient was to have freedom of choice in regard to his pharmacist, while the health insurance committee would have the power to designate the drugs and medicines to come under the operation of the act.

TO HOLD HEARINGS

Hearings on the draft bill would be conducted during the next few months when the minister would welcome all who have an interest in the draft and who have any improvements to suggest, Dr. Peebles stated. Dr. Weir, he said, was anxious to have the act sound from a business standpoint and also from the standpoint of the people.

J. F. Scott, president of the British Columbia Pharmaceutical Association, of Cranbrook expressed thanks to Dr. Peebles for his address.

Following the luncheon, D. Hocking, president of British Columbia Drugs Limited, Vancouver, extended a welcome to the delegates.

E. A. Jolly, Regina, led community singing at the luncheon table.

Dr. Peebles' talk was followed by a

MAY REFUND POLL TAX AS DONATION

The municipality of Esquimalt may refund 47 poll tax payments to men who have had only a few days of work in the form of a donation, it was suggested at Monday evening's session of the municipal council.

It was pointed out that this tax hit heavily upon men who had received a short period of employment under exceptional circumstances, such as those brought about by the repairs to the Niagara and the King Egbert.

The question was originally brought up by Reeve Alexander Lockley, and was left over for further consideration.

general discussion on state health insurance when the convention resumed business.

Fred W. Heath, a member of the council of the Alberta Pharmaceutical Association, gave a paper on health insurance in Alberta. After hearing Dr. Peebles, Mr. Heath thought the proposed British Columbia scheme was extremely complicated in comparison with the Alberta measure which might be made law at any time by order-in-council.

EVERYONE INCLUDED

In Alberta the measure applied to everyone regardless of salary, dividing the beneficiaries into three classes, the indigent, persons of medium means and those with big salaries, he said.

The benefits of the Prairie bill included medical and surgical care, hospitalization, nursing, dental care and preventive medicines.

A general discussion on the subject followed Mr. Heath's paper.

Other business for the day included a paper by A. J. Wilkinson, Windsor, Ont., chairman of the association council, on "Shall We Insist on the Minimum Price Being the Advertised Price?"

CONSERVATIVES MEET AT DUNCAN

Choice of a Conservative candidate to contest Nanaimo federal riding will be made at a convention in Duncan on Saturday afternoon.

C. H. Dickie is the sitting member for the seat and is likely to be re-nominated.

Yesterday evening the Saanich Conservative Association named its delegates to the Duncan convention, sixteen in all being chosen.

An effort was made to force a vote on the question of the candidate, but this did not materialize and the matter was left to the convention.

The delegation will travel by car to Duncan Saturday morning to be on hand for the opening of the convention at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Dickie attended the meeting and spoke on association matters.

Senator R. F. Green spoke, and declared Canada's greater needs to-day were sanity, clear thinking and unity of purpose.

A handsome silver rose bowl was presented to Mrs. F. F. Osborne, who has been a faithful worker for the association for many years.

ROYAL OAK

E. Travers of Wabamun, Alberta, has purchased the house and property of E. Lane, West Saanich Road. Mrs. Travers and family arrived on Monday at their new residence and will be joined later by Mr. Travers.

ENTERTAINS AT NEW PARK

Alderman T. W. Hawkins Celebrates Anniversary at Goldstream

In the Goldstream Park ten-room, among the grove of trees beside the stream which has been restored to the charming picture of an English pastoral scene, Alderman T. W. Hawkins yesterday entertained a few friends at luncheon as he marked the forty-seventh anniversary of his arrival in Victoria.

Cleared and improved after last winter's storms which turned the popular holiday resort into a mass of twisted roots and torn-down trees, the park now stretches away beside the stream in an inviting reach of coolness which bids fair to draw an ever-increasing number of visitors to the grounds.

Tiny weirs have been built to increase the attractiveness of the spot where waters cascade in miniature falls of silver as they pass through small patches of grass and towering trees.

FINE TEA-ROOM

After inspecting the work which is being conducted under his personal supervision and being carried on with the co-operation of the provincial government, Alderman Hawkins took his guests to the Cedar Grove Tea-rooms where they enjoyed a delightful luncheon tastefully served. The tearoom has been greatly improved with the installation of a new well and reservoir which provides running water. The interior is enhanced by a fine chandelier, fireplace, etc.

It will be kept open during the hunting season for the convenience of hunters who may secure breakfasts there as early as 5 o'clock in the morning.

Views Sought On Pension Matters

Candidates for federal office in Victoria riding will be asked their views on three pension matters by the T. W. Hawkins Veterans' Section of the Canadian Legion here, it was announced to-day.

The questionnaire is as follows: "That the Canadian House of Commons shall be urged to give much more time and consideration to matters pertaining to war veterans and dependents, and not, as in the past, shelve business of such vital importance until the dying hours of the session."

"That legislation shall be urged to provide a system of 'Permanent War Disability Pensions,' with a proviso that such permanency will not deprive veterans from a more favorable adjustment where pensions have been reduced, and such disabilities have later increased in extent."

"That the 'War Widows Clause,' which allows pensions only to wid-

DEPENDENCE OF CANADIAN COMMUNITIES UPON THE C.N.R.

Even a brief study of the map of Canada will show how widespread in a geographical sense, are the transportation facilities afforded by Canadian National Railways. From the Atlantic to the Pacific and North and South from its main lines the C. N. R. serves practically every important section of the Dominion.

Along its 22,000 miles of track in Canada are 4,550 C. N. R. Depots or Stations. Some of the larger centres of population, (from which comes, of course, much of the company's revenues), are not dependent solely on the C. N. R. for their railroad requirements, but over four thousand stations, or approximately ninety per cent of the company's total stations in Canada, are located at points where the only rail transportation service available is that provided by Canadian National Railways.

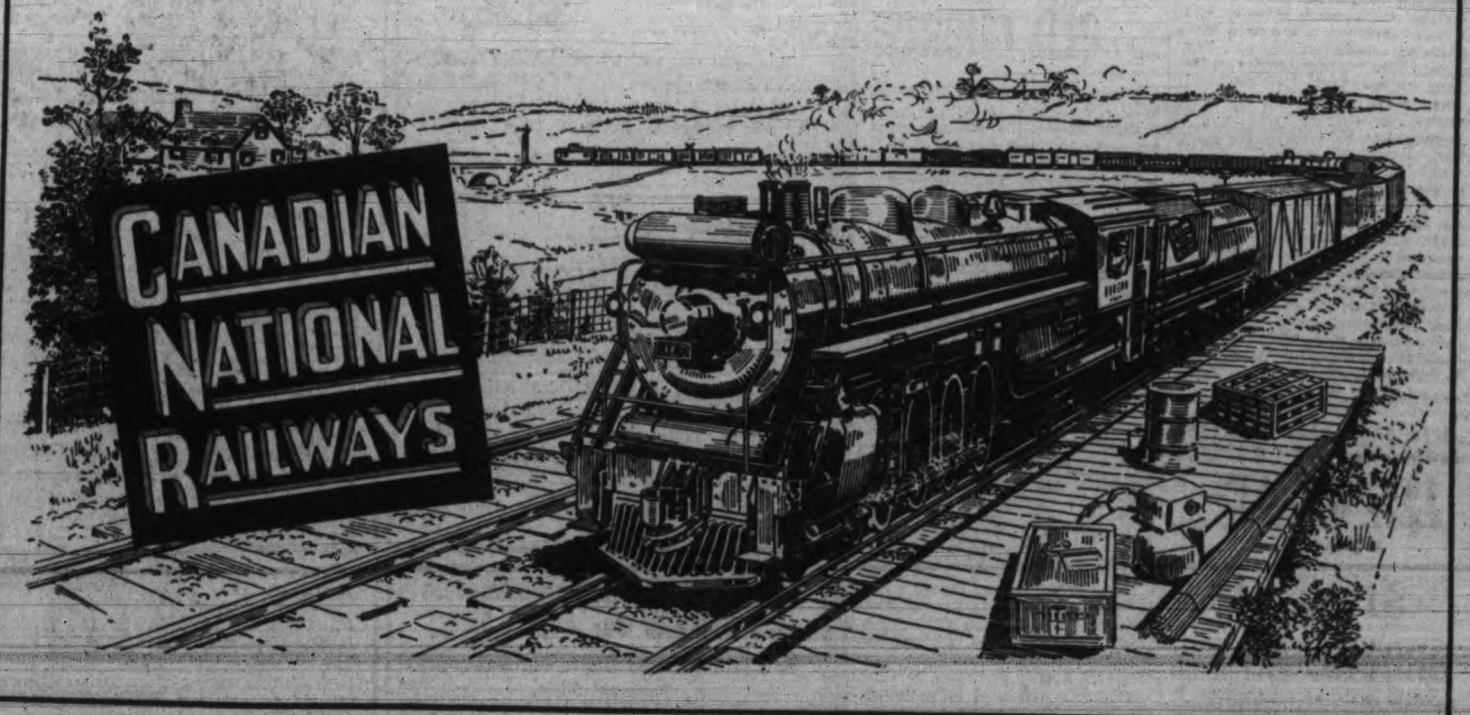

Almost without exception these stations serve communities, varying in size and wealth, which produce commodities required in other parts of Canada or abroad. In their turn they are purchasers from manufacturers and merchants throughout the Dominion. They are thus highly important in the economic structure of the country, and in providing the means of transportation for passengers and freight Canadian National Railways is performing an essential service... one which, indeed, is of tremendous significance in enabling Canada to exist as a complete and united national entity.

As will be readily understood, many of these communities are only in the early stages of their development... their growth has in all too many cases been retarded by the economic conditions of the past few years... but their potentialities, under happier trade conditions, are beyond computation. Further, the people who live in them and who are building the Canada of the future have claims to railway service as a necessary adjunct to their welfare which must be seriously considered.

This aspect of the services rendered by Canadian National Railways will command the approval of all who have faith in the destiny of Canada. Without adequate patronage however from the public as a whole, the performance of these services becomes a matter of great difficulty, if not of impossibility.

Canadian National Railways is operated economically. It stands ready to deliver the best service possible in railway facilities... transportation, telegraphs, express, hotels... and it is on this basis that the C. N. R. solicits your cooperation in the great and nationally important work performed under all conditions and throughout the entire year.

During the present Summer season the C. N. R. is providing special fares and excursions between points throughout Canada. These are exceptional travel bargains. The nearest C. N. R. agent will be glad to give full particulars.

I was puzzled by the disappearance of Mooko and Vilor, which, taken in conjunction with the absence of Duare from her cabin, constituted a mystery of major proportions; and I was trying to discover some link of circumstance that might point a connection between the two occurrences, when I suddenly recalled Vilor's insistence that he be permitted to guard Duare. Here was the first, faint suggestion of a connecting link. However, it seemed to lead nowhere. These three people had disappeared from their cabins, yet reason assured me that they would be found in a short time, since it was impossible to leave the ship, unless—

It was that little word "unless" that terrified me most of all. Since I had discovered that Duare was not in her cabin, a numbing fear had assailed me that, considering herself dishonored by a sexual assault, she had hurled herself overboard. Of what value now the fact that I constantly upbraided myself for my lack of consideration and control? Of what weight my vain regrets?

Yet now I saw a ray of hope. If the absence of Duare and Mooko from their cabin and Duare from hers were more than a coincidence, then it were safe to assume that they were together and ridiculous to believe that all three had leaped overboard.

With these conflicting fears and hopes whirling through my brain, I came to the quarters of the Vepajan, women, which I was about to enter when the sailor I had sent to question the lookout in the crew's nest came running toward me in a state of evident excitement.

"Well," I demanded, as breathless, he halted before me, "what did the lookout have to say?"

"Nothing, my captain," replied the man, his speech retarded by excitement and exertion.

"Nothing! and why not?" I snapped, "The lookout is dead, my captain," gasped the sailor.

"Dead?"

"Murdered," I asked.

"A sword had been run through his body—from behind, I think. He lay upon his face."

"Go at once and inform Kamlot; tell him to replace the lookout and investigate his death, then report to me!"

Shaken by this ominous news, I entered the quarters of the women. They were huddled together in one cabin, pale and frightened, but outwardly calm.

"Have you found Duare?" one of them asked immediately.

"No," I replied, "but I have discovered another mystery—the ongan, Mooko, is missing and with him the Vepajan, Vilor."

"Vepajan?" exclaimed Byes, the woman who had questioned me concerning Duare. "Vilor is no Vepajan."

"What do you mean?" I demanded.

"He is a Thoran spy," she replied.

"He is a Thoran spy?" she replied.

"He was sent to Vepaja long ago to steal the secret of the longevity serum, and when we were captured the klangan took him, also, by mistake. We learned this, little by little, aboard the Sovong."

"But why was I not informed when he was brought aboard?" I demanded.

"We supposed that everyone knew it," explained Byes, "and thought that Vilor was transferred to the Sovol as a prisoner."

Another link in the chain of accumulating evidence! Yet I was as far as ever from knowing where either end of the chain lay.

After questioning the women, I went to the main deck, too impatient to await the reports of my lieutenants in the tower where I belonged. I found that they had searched the ship and were just coming to me with their report. None of those previously discovered missing had been found, but the search had revealed another astounding fact—the five klangan also were missing.

Searching certain portions of the ship had been rather dangerous work, as she was rolling heavily, and the deck was still occasionally swept by the larger seas; but it had been accomplished without mishap, and the men were now congregated in a large room in the main deck house. Kamlot, Gamfor, Kiron, Zog, and I had also entered this same room, where we were discussing the whole mysterious affair. Honan was in the control room of the tower.

I told them that I had just discovered that Vilor was not Vepajan but a Thoran spy, and had reminded Kamlot of the man's request that he be allowed to guard the janjan—"I learned something else from Byes while I was questioning the women," I added.

"During their captivity aboard the Sovong, Vilor persisted in annoying Duare with his attentions; he was infuriated with her."

"I think that gives us the last bit of evidence we need to enable us to reconstruct the hitherto seemingly inexplicable happenings of the past night," said Gamfor, "Vilor wished to possess Duare; Mooko wished to escape from captivity. The former had fraternized with the klangan and made friends of them; that was known to everyone aboard the Sovol. Mooko was an ongan; during all their lives, doubtless, the klangan have looked upon the klongyan as the fountain heads of supreme authority. They would believe his promises, and they would obey his commands."

"Doubtless Vilor and Mooko worked out the details of the plot together. They dispatched an ongan to kill the lookout, lest their movements arouse suspicion and be reported before they could carry their plan to a successful conclusion. The lookout disposed of, the other klangan congregated in Vilor's cabin; then Vilor, probably accompanied by Mooko, went to the cabin of Duare, where they killed the guard and seized her in her sleep, silenced her with a gag, and carried her to the gangway outside, where the klangan were waiting."

"A gale was blowing, it is true, but it was blowing toward land which lay but a short distance to starboard; and the klangan are powerful fliers."

"There you have what I believe to be a true picture of what happened aboard the Sovol while we slept."

"And you believe that the klangan carried these three people to the shores of Noobol?" I asked.

"I think there can be no question but that such is the fact," replied Gamfor.

"I quite agree with him," interjected Kamlot.

"Then there is but one thing to do," I announced. "We must turn back and land a searching party on Noobol."

"No boat could live in this sea," objected Kiron.

CHAPTER XXXIII

"The storm will not last forever," I reminded Kiron. "We shall lie off the shore until it abates. I am going up to the tower; I wish you would remain here and question the crew; it is possible that there may be some one among them who has overheard something that will cast new light on the subject. The klangan are great talkers, and they may have dropped some remark that will suggest the ultimate destination Vilor and Mooko had in mind."

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

SIX-MONTHS-OLD BABY VOMITS, HAS INFECTED EYE

It is always difficult to try to determine what may be amiss in a child's feeding or schedule without knowing the baby's rate of weekly gain. While worship of the weight chart is undesirable, it has in the main fewer disadvantages than complete indifference to gain.

Mrs. W. S. D. says, "Your department has been so helpful to me I want very much to have some help now."

"Could I have a leaflet on feeding the six-months-old baby? He is breast fed. He weighed eight pounds at birth. I feed him every four hours at 6-10-2-6."

A GOOD BABY

"At 9.15 a.m. I give him orange juice before his bath. At 10 I give him cereal and then a nursing and at 6 p.m. vegetables and a nursing. He vomits quite often after a feeding and it is always very sour. He is a good baby, sleeps through the night and is good when he is awake. He has some discharge in his eye. Is this natural? What should I do for it?"

You may have leaflets, "Feeding from Two to Nine Months," and "Feeding from Nine to Twelve Months," for usual self-addressed and stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

SOURNESS IS NATURAL

The probability is that there is very little wrong with a baby who is happy and sleeps well and is satisfied with four feedings daily. Vomiting in such case may be caused by the baby's activity after feeding, too long a period at the breast, too generous feeding of solid foods, preceding the nursing. The fact that the milk is sour merely indicates that it has been in the stomach for some length of time. Foods are acidified by the digestive juices and so when vomited up any length of time after ingestion, they will naturally be sour.

WEIGHT IS IMPORTANT

If the baby has on any tight clothes, or is handled very much after feeding this would tend to encourage vomiting. Of course, the baby's gain in weight would tell a far more accurate story of the reasons than any I could guess without this knowledge. Don't be afraid to tell me everything possible about the baby—I'm never bored by such details.

The infected eye can be very serious. It must not be neglected; but should have the care and attention of a doctor who will prescribe the proper treatment for it.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED

St. Andrew's Church at Sidney Marks Twenty-fifth Year

Sidney, Aug. 7.—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the dedication of St. Andrew's Church, Sidney, was marked on Sunday by a morning communion service and festival evening in the evening, with Bishop Sexton taking the sermon and the choir singing "Let Us Make a Joyful Noise."

After the service a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mathews to meet Bishop Sexton and also to welcome home Rev. T. M. Hughes, who has just returned from England. Refreshments were served by the St. Andrew's Women's Guild. Mrs. J. S. Brethour and Mrs. C. Ward presided at the urns.

On Monday evening the home and beautiful garden of Mr. and Mrs. W. Whiting were opened to a parochial gathering in honor of the anniversary. During the first part of the evening tennis and ladder golf were enjoyed. Later part songs were rendered by the St. Andrew's and Elgar choir quartettes.

This was followed by a play entitled "The Frog Prince," which was under the direction of Mrs. Owen Thomas. The primary class of Miss R. Mathews sang "Jesus Bids Us Shine" and "Jesus Loves Me."

The cast for the play included the Misses Dorothy Brethour, Kathleen Hammond, Irene Villars, Muriel Mounce and Audrey Le Vack. They were assisted by a chorus under the direction of Mrs. Philip Brethour. Refreshments were served by the Women's Guild and the A.Y.F.A.

DR. WILL DURANT HERE THIS WEEK

Professional lecturers are many and their subjects varied but men who lecture only occasionally and then because they like the human touch with an audience and think they have a real message that is best conveyed by word of mouth are few and far between.

Of the latter class perhaps the best known and most popular on this continent is Dr. Will Durant, famous writer of popular books on philosophy and kindred subjects, whose "The Story of Philosophy" is still a big selling favorite and was for years the "best seller" in this continent.

Dr. Durant will be in Victoria Friday and arrangements have been made for him to give one of his most popular lectures, "The Progress of Realism," in the Empire Theatre Friday evening. It is his own favorite lecture and is generally accepted as his best. The topic is timeless, because it deals with the history of human progress through the ages, but it is also timely because Dr. Durant never fails to bring the implications of his problem up to the present time and even the present year.

COSMIC RAYS IN BROADCAST

Special NBC Programme To-morrow Will Explain Latest Wonder of Science

For the first time on the air listeners will hear the best of the much-discussed cosmic ray as recorded by the famous Geiger-Mueller Photoelectric counter during a special broadcast over an NBC nationwide network to-morrow at 3.15 p.m., P.S.T.

Dr. Otto Glaser and I. E. Boardley, scientists in the biophysical research laboratory of the Cleveland Clinic Foundations, will give startling facts on this project called living, during the programme. The entire discussion will be non-technical and radio listeners will be "let in" on the secret wonders of modern science.

The Greiger-Mueller photoelectric counter is highly sensitive and responds to different types of radiation. It also detects ultra-violet rays from various stars following their exposure to and their removal from X-ray or Gamma rays.

Glaser and Boardley will make special experiments during the broadcast with various objects, ranging from the ordinary match to salt crystals and radium.

Glaser is known for his research work in Roentgen Rays and the Gamma rays of radium, physical foundations of radiation therapy, for his construction of dosimeters, Gurwitsch Mitogenic radiation and his history of Roentgen rays.

Boardley and Glaser will speak from the studios of WHAM, NBC station in Cleveland.

Stations will include KOMO and KFI.

"That's our line-up, sir... and that's the reason we sell more tires!

"We don't have to try to talk anyone into paying more than he can afford for tires!

"With six different Goodyears we meet every man's price ideas and know that we're giving him the biggest value for his money!

"For the man who wants the best, we have the G-3 All-Weather... the daddy of 'em all... the Goodyear Tire that has left a diamond trail on every Canadian road!

"A step lower in price there's the Pathfinder... with a sturdy Supertwist Cord body and a keen centre-traction tread!

"Then there's Speedway! Away down in price but with Supertwist Cords and a tough, long-wearing tread... a real bargain, sir!

"All three grades are made 4-ply and 6-ply so that makes six different tires... but they're all Goodyears and they all carry a written guarantee against road-hazards and defects!

"Yes, sir... that's our line-up... and what a great line-up it is!

"Come in and see for yourself why Goodyears give us the biggest tire sales in Canada!"

McMECKIN-JENKINS

A marriage of much interest on Vancouver Island was solemnized in Winnipeg, at the home of the bride's father, Mr. J. H. Jenkins, Dorchester Avenue, on Saturday evening, August 3, between Miss Margaret Mary (Peggy) Jenkins, and John Baird McMeekin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McMeekin of Nanaimo, B.C. Rev. John MacKay performed the ceremony.

An improvised altar was erected in front of the fireplace in the drawing room, arranged with palms and ferns with feathery clusters of shaded pink sweet peas interspersed with fronds of gypsophila. Many candelabra holding ivory tapers illuminated the scene. The wedding music was played by Mr. Archie Lee.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white hand-woven crepe suit, the coat, hip-length in design, opening onto a hand-made blouse, fashioned of handkerchief linen, embellished with motifs of Irish crochet lace. Her hat was a French model of white crepe with white brim and her corsage will be with garlands.

Both bride and bridegroom were unattended.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a many-tiered wedding cake surrounded and surmounted with lily of the valley. Tall candelabra with ivory lighted candles also graced the table.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. McMeekin left for Vancouver, where they will make their home.

Mrs. de Jan married an American citizen in 1913, but the marriage was dissolved in Panama.

Widow Tells Thrilling Tale

Englishwoman Describes Adventurous Career in Mexico

New York, Aug. 7.—"Tempest Over Mexico," written by Rose King, an Englishwoman, is reviewed at length in The Herald-Tribune, and her book is there termed "one of the most thrilling adventure stories that has yet come out of that eternally blood-stained land of beauty, a gallant woman and a brilliant, colorful book."

A young widow with two children to support, Mrs. King hung a tin teakettle on a wrought-iron arm and set up shop in Cuernavaca's first tourist tearoom. She charged the highest prices in Mexican history for her tea and buns, and all the aristocrats of Mexico, native and foreign, visited her—the governor, the British Ambassador, American business men, finally the President of Mexico.

She added a curio shop, and so prospered that in 1910, all unaware that revolution lurked behind the white mountains, she bought a 400-year-old manor house and furnished it magnificently as the Buena Vista Inn.

The revolutionary storm broke. In the end Cuernavaca had to be evacuated. For a week Mrs. King and her American friend and the friend's nine-year-old daughter—"I am American, and can do as I like," the child complained when the Mexican officers gave her orders—staggered along with the retreating army, constantly under fire, sometimes marching steadily without sleep for three days and nights.

Once, when the Zapatistas ambushed the column, Mrs. King slid off the path, halfway down into a rocky ravine, and a dead mule slid after her, striking her a blow that left her unconscious and half paralyzed for days. The retreating Mexican soldiers took time out to rescue her.

The revolution staggered on, seemingly all factional disintegration. "I thought," Mrs. King remarks, "men seeking liberty are like men seeking God; they are all sure that every one else's way is wrong."

She had lost everything; but today she looks across the valley where Cortez had loved and fought, and countless Indians before him; where once Porfirio Diaz's thirty-six hand-holding friends had fought their way of extermination.

"I cannot help but feel that these revolutions through which I managed to live were inevitable," she says; and she adds, "it is better now."

Tells Of First Island Garden

B. A. McKelvie Suggests Flower Exhibition to Commemorate Event

The commemoration of the planting of the first garden in the Pacific northwest by a sesqui-centennial exhibition of flowers was advocated by B. A. McKelvie, managing editor of The Colonist, in an address to the Victoria Horticultural Society at its regular monthly meeting in the City Hall yesterday evening.

Two hundred years ago next summer, Capt. James Strange sowed the first seeds of the first garden, on Vancouver Island at Nootka. Mr. McKelvie related. The crew had been suffering from scurvy, and upon anchoring Capt. Strange noted in his journal that he ordered as man as could be found to sow seeds so that they would have fresh vegetables to combat the disease.

Mr. McKelvie in his address reviewed the history of horticulture on the Coast. As early as 490 A.D. the Chinese had written accounts of this country, and had named the island Fusang in honor of a flowering tree. The Indians probably introduced agriculture to British Columbia, he said, with the cultivation of tobacco. The natives did not smoke the "weed" but chewed it.

The speaker paid tribute to Dr. W. F. Tomlin for the part he played in the introduction of the dahlias and the acacia tree to the northwest. The first rose was grown at Port Langley, while Sir James Douglas, who beside being governor was a keen gardener, planted the first apple tree on the island in 1864.

In closing Mr. McKelvie praised the work of the association in encouraging the beautification of the city. Before the address, the secretary reported that the Spring Flower Show, which the society conducted at the end of July had been a great success. Over 2,000 people had bought tickets, he said, but due to the low price of admission, there was not likely to be a profit from the exhibition.

Winners of the evening's gladioli competition were First, F. T. Rawlings; second, A. M. Scott, and new exhibitor, N. Chamberlain. Mr. Rawlings won first prize in the cauliflower contest.

TROUSERED SKIRTS NEW

Bruyere Shows Them For Evening, Afternoon and Sports Wear

By ADELAIDE KERR

Associated Press Foreign Staff Writer Paris, Aug. 7.—Trousered skirts for sports, afternoon and evening wear and hooded dresses, suits and coats were exhibited to-day at Bruyere's winter fashion show.

Buyers predicted trousered skirts were "going to be in evidence" this winter. They appeared in brown and grey wool for sports, the frocks having basque bodies and very wide, divided skirts.

Afternoon dresses were in black satin and velvet with ten-inch-wide trousers showing a few inches under the skirt. They were also seen in velvet dinner frocks, some of which were designed with a knee-length tunic over fairly full trousers gathered at the ankle.

Hoods were widely used for day clothes. Brown wool ensembles with capes, tweed coat dresses, and straight, hem-length, black seal coats were all designed with loose-fitting hoods, while black belted suits appeared with close-fitting broadtail hoods ending in the short-ruffles cape.

Paris, Aug. 7 (Associated Press).—Jewel-studded, long-sleeved evening gowns were shown to-day at Jodelle's winter fashion show opening.

Lames shimmering like molten gold, changeable velvets and failles of glistening red blue or red green lights, soft, pale, flowered lame brocades, and white and purple satins and crepes were among the luxurious fabrics used.

Crepes evening gowns, designed with huge bishop sleeves and full skirts, were accented.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE

Everything comes out in the wash—even stains—if only you will take a few precautions before wash day.

Heavy ice cream and frosted drink stains, for instance, found all too often on your best table cloth these days, need two pre-treatments. They are usually a combination of sugar, cream and color from fruit juices. The cream must first be treated with a grease solvent, such as carbon tetrachloride. To erase the fruit juice, pour boiling water through the spot.

Salted oil may be unnoticeable when wet, but unless all grease or oil is taken out it will show up as greasy brown stains when the fabric is ironed and will be almost impossible to get out then. The trick is also to treat mayonnaise and oil stains with carbon tetrachloride before washing.

REMOVING GRASS STAINS

If you can take care of a grass stain while it's fresh you can usually take it out with soap and water, but if it is a day or more old, sponging with denatured alcohol is effective. Unwashable materials, of course, must be given the alcohol treatment to begin with.

Every once in a while somebody throws a damp towel in the clothes hamper and traces of mildew make their appearance. In the early stages of its growth this stain comes out by washing in cold water before putting into hot suds. If, however, it is stubborn, white cottons and linens may be bleached with Javelle water.

Small scattered spots can be stretched over a bowl of hot water containing a few drops of ammonia. Then, with a dropper, put the bleach on the stain and immediately rinse the material in the water in the bowl. You may need to repeat this several times.

Large spots are more easily taken out if they are soaked in a solution of two tablespoons Javelle water in one part of clear water.

After using a bleach, rinse articles thoroughly. The bleach weakens the fabric if left on.

COLORS WILL BLEACH

Tea and coffee and fruit stains are removed by pouring boiling water through the spot. After laundering, these stains, too, must be given the bleaching treatment. Of course if you attempt to remove stains from colored fabrics with bleach, the color will come out.

Lipstick comes out in the ordinary wash.

Make a practice of going over laundry to remove spots before putting the clothes into the suds. These few minutes will save many an hour of work and annoyance later.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast: Grapes, cereal, cream, soft cooked eggs, toast, milk, coffee.

Lunch: Creamed tuna fish with Chinese noodles, mixed fruit salad, graham bread, harrm's, lemonade.

Dinner: Broiled ham with pineapple slices, creamed kohlrabi, spinach and egg salad, graham cracker ice-box pudding, milk, coffee.

Two Victoria Rinks Gain Semi-finals In Bowling Tourney

THE SPORTS MIRROR

IT IS pretty generally agreed among the leading boxing critics in eastern United States that Joe Louis would whip Max Baer, Max Schmeling and James J. Braddock. That being the case, stern competition for Louis will have to come from a new source. Right now the Detroit negro is being looked upon as the coming heavy-weight champion of the world.

Perhaps by the time Louis meets Braddock next summer, there'll be a sufficient number of pachyderms around to at least keep the trade amused. Remember the white hope crase caused by Jack Johnson proving poor Jim Jeffries a hollow shell at Reno on July 4, 1910? There came a long line of assorted large fellows all eager to cash in on the opportunity to restore the title to the Nordics.

Luther McCarthy, a rough-riding cowboy raised at Brittwood Creek, Wild Horse Canon, Hitchcock County, Neb., probably was the best of the lot. McCarthy whipped Jim Barry, and knocked out Al Kaufman, Fireman Jim Flynn, and Al Palmer in less than four months, only to die at the age of twenty-one several minutes after Arthur Pelkey had landed what apparently was a light blow in a clinch shortly after they had put up their hands in what was considered nothing more than a workout for the handsome Scotch-Irish youth at Calgary.

So it was that the ponderous Iowa farmer, a former of Potawatomi County, Kansas, lasted to finally dethrone Johnson in Havana, but contemporaneous with Willard was a motley crew that came from the farms, oil lands, railroads, and where not, to contribute to one of the strangest chapters in ring history.

There were Fred Fulton, the plasterer, Clark Morris, the Sappals, Okla., engineer, Al Reich, moon recently the bodyguard of Jassie, the Lindbergh kidnapping intermediary, Frank Moran and his Mary Ann; Tom McMahon, Terry Keller, Andre Anderson, Pork Flynn, Tom Cowler, Charley Weinst, Gunboat and Homer Smith, Joe Bonds, Mortimer Charley Miller and plenty more.

The great majority of them had lantern jaws of glass and were frightfully miscast, but anyone of any size who could remain on his feet for any length of time was considered a red-hot prospect.

Willard's start in the hempen square was typical of the white hopes. Raised on the edge of an Indian reservation, big Joe early learned to ride and drive well. He never had seen a fight, much less been in one, prior to the afternoon of July 4, 1910, when he drove a six-horse team into a small Oklahoma town to find everyone excited about the defeat of Jeffries by Johnson.

"Jass," said the proprietor of the little hotel where he was staying, "why don't you whip that negro? You're big enough."

For the first time in his life Willard saw a chance to get away from skinning horses, and, after thinking it over, decided to camp on Johnson's trail.

Marconini-Dixon Skip Squads To Fine Victories

In Last Four of Capital City Rinks With Two Vancouver Aggregations

UPSETS SEEN IN MEN'S SINGLES

A pair of rinks from Victoria skipped by A. Marconini, Victoria Club, and G. B. Dixon, Canadian Pacific, Victoria, and two from Vancouver, led by G. Orr, Cedar Cottage, and M. M. Reston, Vancouver South, reached the semi-finals of the Capital City rinks competition yesterday in the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association tournament.

Orr's rink topped section one of the competition with seven straight victories. In section two, Dixon's squad finished in a tie with W. H. Youhill, Victoria, and H. Le Patourel, Vancouver, but won the honors after a play-off. Reston's four took first place in section three with twelve points, made up as the result of six victories and one defeat.

WINS PLAY-OFF Marconini was forced to lead his team through a play-off with W. Robb, Canadian Pacific, Victoria, to win section four. The two rinks finished play, each with ten points—five wins and two losses.

In the women's rinks competition the four section winners were: Mrs. W. Kenmuir, Vancouver South; Mrs. W. Wilbur, Kerrisdale; Mrs. Holmes, Vancouver; and Mrs. Hancock, Burnside. In two out of the four sections play-offs were necessary before winners were determined.

Preliminary, first, second and third round matches in the men's singles yesterday were featured by the elimination of two strong contenders from the Victoria Club, Marconini and M. Mosey. The former was eliminated by G. Morrison, 15-19 and Mosey went out of the running at the hands of G. Melkie, 15-13. P. Harman, another strong singles player, also suffered defeat by E. Eastham, 15-13.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

ROLANDOW - COULD JUMP BACK AND FORTH OVER A 200-LB. BARBELL WHILE LIFTING IT

VICE-PRESIDENT WILLIAM R. KING TOOK OFFICE ON FOREIGN SOIL BY A SPECIAL ACT OF CONGRESS

TWIN SISTERS, HAZEL AND DOROTHY PAYNTER - RIVERDALE STATION, ILL., WENT THROUGH 9 YEARS OF SCHOOL WITHOUT BEING ABSENT OR TARDY

PYRAMID OF THE SUN - IN MEXICO IS LARGER AT THE BASE THAN ANY EGYPTIAN PYRAMID

Strange as it seems, William R. King, elected vice-president of the United States, was permitted by a special act of Congress to take office on foreign soil. King was elected on the Democratic ticket with Franklin Pierce, but he was ill in Cuba when Pierce took office on March 4, 1893. Because his health would not permit him to return to Washington for the inaugural ceremonies, Congress passed an act which allowed him to take his oath of office in Cuba.

King returned to this country not long afterward, but he never was able to assume active duties of his office. He died in Alabama the month after his inauguration. Diplomat and statesman, his foreign office work in France is credited with having blocked a French protest against the United States' annexation of Texas.

Strange as it seems, none of the famous pyramids of ancient Egypt is as large at the base as the one erected by an ancient Mexican civilization near what is now Mexico City. This huge pyramid, although shorter in height than the huge Egyptian examples, covers a greater area at the base than the Great Pyramid. The Mexican structure, called the "Pyramid of the Sun," measures a few feet more than the Great Pyramid.

Mexican pyramids were built as altars for religious ceremonies, while those of Egypt served as tombs for the dead rulers. Yet, strangely enough, these monuments on opposite sides of the earth are of strikingly similar design.

Veteran Zachary Defeats Giants

Steele-Yaroszt Bout Possible

Seattle, Aug. 7.—Nate Druxman, Seattle field promoter, said yesterday evening he had sent a definite offer to Ray Fouts, manager of Teddy Yarosz, middle-weight champion, to East Liverpool, Ohio, for a bout with Freddie Steele, Tacoma, not later than the first week in September.

The mighty sock added another pitching victory to the record of the fractious twirler, running his number of wins up to eighteen, the highest in the National League. The Boston Red Sox moundman leads the American League in the number of wins, having chalked up eighteen also.

The stage had been set for Dizzy. He went to the mound in the seventh and held Cincinnati hitless for four innings, having been the third Red-bird twirler to see action. With the score tied at 3 to 3 in the tenth, Bill Delaney got a lucky double, Charley Gelbert was passed and Leo Durocher sacrificed. Then the elder Dean stepped to the plate and the way he braced himself for that blow indicated he wasn't looking for a single. The ball sailed into the left grandstand and the score stood 6 to 3.

Brooklyn Dodgers shoved a full game off the Giants' lead as Tom Zachary coaxed another victory from his aged arm. The Giants got eleven hits, but they availed but one run. The final score was 3 to 1.

The win, combined with Chicago Cubs' 2 to 1 victory over Pittsburgh, cut the Giants' margin to three games. Roy Henshaw, who seems to know what kind of balls the Pirates can't hit, was on the mound for the Cubs, but it took a brace of errors on a freak play to turn the tide.

Bill Jurgens got a single in the third and then Henshaw, trying to punt, popped one into the hands of Birkener. The pitcher, apparently intending to trap Jurgens and get both runners, intentionally dropped the ball, then got confused and threw wild to first. By the time Stutz got it, Jurgens was nearing third. Then Stutz threw all the way to the left field boxes and Jurgens scored.

Boston Braves forgot themselves again and defeated the Phillies 4 to 0 behind the three-hit pitching of Bob Smith. For seven and one-third innings the Braves' pitcher hurled perfect ball, not allowing a single man to reach first.

In the only game played in the American League, Washington Senators collected fourteen hits to score their second straight win over the Philadelphia Athletics, 11 to 2.

COAST LEAGUE Whenever the Portland Beavers play a ball game they manage to keep the biggest part of it confined to the infield. The Ducks' inner garden is known as the "dime of the league," but their case of acute infielditis seems to be contagious. Every team they meet tries to play them at their own game.

The Portland-Mission game yesterday evening was settled definitely round the bases, as the Ducks won, 4 to 1.

Sacramento pulled a surprise as the Solons reached up from the depths of the cellar and slapped down the circuit-leading San Francisco Seals, 6 to 5, by overcoming a one-run lead in the last of the ninth.

Big Jim Oglesby, Los Angeles first baseman, pounded out two homers, a double and two singles and drove in seven runs as the Angels plastered a 13 to 3 defeat on Seattle. Five Indian hurlers were used.

Herman Pilleter, stellar Hollywood pitcher, kept all but two of the seven hits made off him confined to the infield as the Stars spoiled Oakland's homecoming by winning 4 to 1.

Levinsky-Louis Battle To-night

40,000 Will Pack Comiskey Park in Chicago For Heavyweight Bout; Louis Remains Favorite at Varying Odds; Both Are Confident

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Their imaginations stirred by the prospect of a duplicate of the immortal Jack Dempsey-Louis Firpo thriller, upwards of 40,000 action hungry fans will pack Comiskey Park to-night to watch Joe Louis, Detroit, throw his devastating bombs at the kingfish, King Levinsky, Chicago.

The pre-battle setup was almost a carbon copy of the Dempsey-Firpo drama of flying fists and tumbling bodies, except that no heavyweight championship prize will be at stake to-night.

Louis, cool and deliberate, was the better strategist and boxer like the Manassa Mauler of old, but before him he had a man like Firpo, who didn't know what danger meant, a man who could smash his iron fists through a two-inch board, take a blow or two like it in return and then come back to give more.

GREAT RECORD Louis, winner of spectacular knockouts in nineteen out of twenty-two professional fights, ruled the favorite at varying odds from two to three-to-one, with plenty of takers from the pro-Levinsky. Even the pro-Levinsky had a suspicion that Louis packed too many bombs for the prize of Chicago's Maxwell Street, but they wanted to find out—and all the boxing world wanted to know—if Louis could take what Levinsky has to hand out and still come back and give what he's got.

Both principals, great oratorical contrasts, are sure of victory in to-night's battle, which is billed for ten rounds.

There is not much of an advantage

Dranga-Cooke Reach Final

Meet To-day at Tacoma For Pacific Northwest Sectionals Tennis Title

Tacoma, Aug. 7.—Mel Dranga, Seattle, and Elwood Cooke, Portland, were to meet to-day for the northwest sectional men's singles championship as a result of semi-final victories here yesterday.

Dranga defeated Don Lewis, Portland, 7-5, 6-4, 6-0; while Cooke took the measure of Henry "Pal" Rosenberg, Seattle, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

While northwest stars will bring the men's singles and doubles sectional events down to the title matches, Californians placed the fields in the Pacific Northwest championship tourney held in conjunction with the sectional play.

Northwest results included: Second round—Charles Hunt, Tacoma, defeated Jack Brown, Vancouver, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3. Mens doubles—first round—Jack Brown and Scott Rehner, Vancouver, defeated Major J. H. Hill and Sergeant Sanderson, Tacoma, 6-1, 6-4.

Vancouver Uniteds Defeat Bellingham

Vancouver, Aug. 7.—Bunching three of their seven hits in the seventh frame for three runs, Uniteds broke a 2 to 2 tie and defeated Bellingham, 5 to 3, in an inter-city baseball fixture here yesterday evening.

Two doubles, a single and a double steal gave the Uniteds their six of markers in the seventh after they had counted lone tallies in the first and second.

Bellingham scored two runs in the second and the other in the eighth. Short score: R. H. E. Bellingham..... 3 7 2 Uniteds..... 5 3 2

Batteries: Lasey and Smith; Shay and Henry.

WIN PROTESTS OVER MATCHES

Mid-Island Executive Orders Two Softball Matches Be Replayed To-night

Games played in the semi-finals of the Mid-Island Softball League at Duncan on August 4 and at Ladysmith on August 5 were protested, and at a meeting of the Mid-Island executive the protests were upheld and both games ordered to be replayed.

Playing at Duncan on August 2, the Hillcrest nine nosed out the Cobblers 10 to 7. The match resulted in a protest from the Cobbs Hill squad on the umpire's ruling on section 37, clause 1, of the B.C. rules, where in the second inning of the Hillcrest half, two runs were allowed when a batsman batted out of turn.

The protest was upheld and the game will be replayed this evening at Duncan.

The match between Nanaimo and Ladysmith, played on August 2, was also protested on the grounds that the Ladysmith team had a player in this game who had not played three league games. The executive upheld the protest and the game will be replayed at Nanaimo to-night at 8 o'clock.

Hillcrest defeated the Cobblers 15 to 9 on August 2 in a semi-final notball league fixture.

GRADS TO OLYMPIAD Calgary, Aug. 7.—Edmonton Grads basketball team will go to the Olympic games at Berlin next year, J. Percy Page, coach of the famous girls' team, said here yesterday. The regular team will make the trip. Page said a series will be played in Edmonton against St. Louis before sailing next spring.

Brunsdons Tie Up City Championship Softball Play-off

Eighth-inning Rally Defeats Silent Glows

Push Home Six Runs to Take Game 8 to 4; Third Tilt To-morrow Evening

OFFICIALS SET GAMES FOR WEEK

Silent Glows and Brunsdons awaited the third game in their three-out-of-five series for the city senior A softball championship to-morrow evening on an even footing to-day.

Yesterday evening the burnermen, after posting a two-run lead in their half of the eighth, blew it to let Brunsdons score six tallies in the second half of that inning and win 8 to 4.

The game was played at the Athletic Park before a good crowd of spectators.

Silent Glows had the ball game right in their lap after their half of the eighth when they scored three runs to lead 4 to 2.

Errors crept into the burnermen's play in the second half of the frame as Brunsdons started a bunting attack that had their opponents falling over each other. Before they had finished, the Brunsdons outfit had pushed six runners across the home plate. The Glows were unable to tally in their half of the ninth.

Score by innings:
Silent Glows 00100003-4
Brunsdons' Boys 01100008-8

Batteries: Jones and Kennedy; Palmer and Dunnett.

ARMY WINS

Army bats cracked out in the seventh to pile up six runs as that squad defeated Painter's Bruins 7 to 3 in a game at Work Point barracks. The soldiers tallied in the first frame but lost the lead when the coal merchants scored once in the fourth and twice in the sixth.

In the seventh, the soldiers started to hit Lloyd Simpson and netted half a dozen runs.

Score by innings:
Painter's Bruins 00010200-3
Army 10000000-7

Batteries: L. Simpson and Berry; Glendenning, Teskey and Teskey.

WIN WITH HOMER

Harry Holmes broke up the ball game between Kreeges and the Civic Staff at Victoria West Park when he clouted out a circuit drive to score two Kreege runners and come home himself in the sixth inning. The game ended with his team leading 10 to 8.

Scoring a pair of runs in the first and sixth frames and four in the second, New Method Laundries coasted to an 8 to 4 verdict over Sanichon in a game at Central Park.

London, Aug. 7.—Fred Perry sailed for the United States aboard the liner Berengaria to-day, but Helen Vinson, the actress, was not even at the boat train to see him off, despite rumors they soon will be married in New York. "I can't discuss the matter," Perry said.

HUNDREDS AT GARDEN GALA

Sea-going Hacks of Vancouver Win Polo Game at Druggists' Aquatic Event

Featured by a mock water polo game which kept the crowd of 1,500 persons shrieking with laughter throughout, the Victoria druggists yesterday evening staged a swimming and diving exhibition, followed by a dance, in the Crystal Garden as part of the extensive entertainment programme presented here for the twenty-third annual convention of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association.

While the gala had its humorous side some clever diving exhibitions and hotly contested swimming events were staged, with Victoria's leading aquatic stars taking part. In the men's fifty yards race, H. Munroe set a new track record with the time of 25.8 seconds.

The polo game was between the Sea-going Hacks, an organization of Vancouver traveling drug men, and the Victoria druggists, the mainlanders winning out after a terrific battle (lasting nearly five minutes) by a score of 2 to 0.

Vic. Broom and Henry McLaren were the key men for the Vancouverites, both scoring a goal apiece.

COSTUMES A FEATURE

The costumes which members of the two teams wore presented a contrast in the swimming attire of modern day mermaids, worn by the Hacks, and the fashions of yesterday, "colorfully" presented by the Victorians.

The Victoria "Wildcats" were piped around the pool before the game opened, and were greeted on the opposite side by their "mermaid" opponents. Several of the mainland boys, who preferred the dry walk around the pool to the damp interior, gave their fellow players plenty of moral support when the battle was over.

For their great triumph the Hacks were presented with a specially decorated piece of bathroom ware, which was handed over to Vic Broom, commodore of the Hacks, by Dick Jenkins, goalie, captain, coach and general manager of the Victoria team.

The presentation took place in the south ballroom with the huge crowd thundering its applause as the blushing Vancouver skipper received the trophy.

Other prizes won on the gala were also presented.

Members of the two teams were: Sea-going Hacks: Vic Broom, Henry McLaren, Tom Ferris, Charles Monk, Frank Megan, W. Hollingshead, James Park, Cliff Urquhart, Doug Bailey, Ken Fletcher, and Fred Tilson.

Victoria: Dick Jenkins, John Howard, Bill Clark, Elmer Clark, Howard Knott, Ed Smith, Clyde Savage, and H. Stearns.

Following the swimming and diving two orchestras provided music for dancing in the south and lower ballrooms.

The Shrine Band gave a concert preceding the gala.

Local Eleven Wins Over Dublin City

New York, Aug. 7.—Cletio Locatelli, lightweight champion of Italy, moved a step nearer a shot at Tony Cannon's world title yesterday evening by winning a close ten-round decision from Harry Dublin City, veteran Chicago welterweight, before 6,000 spectators in the Coney Island Velodrome. Locatelli weighed 139½ and Dublin City 137½.

The Associated Press score card gave Locatelli five rounds, Dublin City four and called out even.

The Chicago Polish battler put on his usual strong finish, but Locatelli's early lead was sufficient to swing the decision. Starting with the seventh, when he opened a bad cut over the Italian's left eye, Dublin City captured three of the last four heats.

HAL SURFACE DEFEATS HALL

Favorite Eliminated From Eastern United States Tennis Tournament

New York, Aug. 7.—A favored star fell by the wayside yesterday as play in the eastern United States grass court tennis championships progressed to the quarter final round.

Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N.J., seeded eighth, and recent Southampton finalist, was victim of the upset.

Exceptional shot making by Harold Surface, young Missouri Valley champion, Kansas City, put Hall out of the tournament, 6-3, 7-5.

The debut of Sidney Wood, Davis Cup alternate, was another feature. He met Haines Stockton, Springfield, N.J., in the first round and beat him in straight love sets, then disposed of Naval-Lieut. R. M. Watt, 6-4, 6-4.

Frank Shields, movie actor on a vacation, trailed Charley Harris, West Palm Beach, Fla., 3-6 in the first set, but hit a fast pace after that and ran out a 7-5, 6-1 victory.

FRED. FRANCIS PASSES AWAY

Former Victorian Dies at Residence of His Son, F. W. Francis

At the residence of his son, F. W. Francis, 1742 Lee Avenue, the death occurred yesterday evening of Frederick Francis of Los Angeles, aged sixty-nine years.

The remains are reposing at the Thompson Funeral Home, where Rev. H. S. Payne will conduct the services to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, after which interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

The late Mr. Francis was born in Ottawa, Ont., and was for some years in a florist's business in Esquimalt, before leaving over two decades ago for Los Angeles, where he conducted a similar business for many years.

He is survived by eight sons, Fred W., James H., Arthur and Hugh, all in Victoria, and Harry R., Chas. E., Albert L. and Harold J. Francis, all of Los Angeles, also fifteen grandchildren.

FRED. LANDSBERG WILLS $15,156

Former "Best Citizen" Gives Business to W. H. Davies and Son-in-law

Fred Landsberg, philanthropist and a former holder of Victoria's "best citizen" medal, who died June 14 last, left a total estate of $15,156, as passed for probate to-day by Justice D. A. McDonald of the Supreme Court on application of Thomas Miller, counsel for the executors, William Hodgson Davies and Beatrice Hannah Landsberg Fitzsimmons.

Mr. Landsberg left his whole business, which has been operated for years under the name of the Empire Realty Company, to his son-in-law, Percy A. Fitzsimmons, and Mr. Davies, who had been first employed by Mr. Landsberg as a youth and had been associated with him for nearly thirty years.

These two will divide the business equally, inheriting it unconditionally.

His daughter, Mrs. Fitzsimmons, receives $4,996 cash from New York Life and Mutual Life of Canada insurance policies. Another policy of $2,000 A.O.U.W. benefit certificate, is payable to the grandchildren in equal shares.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons is also named as the residuary legatee of the estate, personal and real.

To Kathleen White-Howles, 45 Lower Crescent, Sausalito, Cal., Mr. Landsberg left a valuable collection of silver and $500 in cash.

Besides the insurance and personal effects, Mr. Landsberg left real estate of a net value, after mortgage deductions, of $6,054, including the Niagara Street home. The court placed a par value of $1 a share on his $1,501 shares in the Empire Realty Company. His only other listed holdings were in Columbia Oil, Alert Oil and Kamorley Oil stocks, all of which the court listed as being worthless.

A special clause in the will as presented to court specified that the executors should not purchase any burial casket which may be adorned with fancy trimmings, my wish being they acquire a plain casket without any ornamentation except plain handles.

In hospital just before he died, Mr. Landsberg added a clause to his will whereby Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P. was named to act with the executors as trustee for the money bequeathed to the grandchildren.

HIGHWAY WILL BENEFIT CITY

Victoria Key Point of No. 101, and Will Draw Tourists, Says R. F. Hodgins

"You people of Victoria, I am afraid, do not fully realize just what Highway 101 is going to do for you in the way of increased tourist traffic. This magnificent coast highway, which now stretches from the Mexican to the Canadian borders, will, within a very short time, bring twice as many motor tourists to Victoria than at any previous time in her history," said Richard F. Hodgins, assistant manager of the famous Ambassador Hotel at Los Angeles, when seen at the Empress Hotel to-day.

Mr. Hodgins is making his annual visit to Victoria, and this time brought along his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Lucas, and grandniece, Miss Lorien Kingsbury.

He was recently at Caliente, Mexico, and motored over Highway 101 to Victoria via San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Traffic over the coast highway, he said, would be greatly facilitated in the south by the completion of the Golden Gate bridge. At the Columbia River it is spanned by a ferry.

Mr. Hodgins is an enthusiastic supporter of the British Columbia-Alaska Highway, believing it would be the logical continuation of No. 101.

It is not so much the motion picture stars dancing and supping in the Coconut Grove that makes that rendezvous at the Ambassador so popular, according to Mr. Hodgins. "We have the best orchestra to be found anywhere, and that is the drawing card," he said.

"In my opinion, there is no better and finer hotel than the Empress Hotel on the entire North American continent," declared Mr. Hodgins of the local C.P.R. hotel. "And the service could not be improved upon," he added.

EARWIG WAR AT CHEMAINUS

Two Thousand Parasites Turned Loose at Chemainus

The earwig war has spread to the north. A battalion of two thousand parasites traveled up to Chemainus in cigarette tins and were let loose against the garden pests in the residential district around the post office by W. Downes, Dominion entomologist, on Monday.

Chemainus is said to be one of the worst infested areas on the island.

"This is as far north as I expect to go," said Mr. Downes, who is in command of the parasite army. "All other parasites will be released in or close to Victoria."

Another army of ten thousand parasites will go into the field against the earwigs in Victoria this week, and preparations for the departure of these maggot soldiers is going ahead with speed at their base, the parasite laboratory opposite the Parliament Buildings.

Alderman Wills Rescues Salmon

Member of City Council Carries Fifteen-pound Salmon to Safety at Goldstream River; Had Been Caught in Shallow Water On Way to Spawning Grounds.

Fienickers at Goldstream on Sunday enjoyed seeing one of Victoria's aldermen carrying a wriggling, fifteen-pound salmon around in his arms. Early in the afternoon Alderman Archie Wills was viewing the scenery along the banks of the Goldstream River when he noticed a number of children and a couple of dogs chasing a large salmon in one of the shallow parts of the stream.

Investigating, Alderman Wills found that the big fish, on its way to spawning grounds, had become helpless in shallow water. He picked up the salmon by the tail and took it to his arms.

Then started a search for a large pool-hole in which to place the helpless salmon. Alderman Wills attracted a lot of attention as he walked along the edge of the river with the fish in his arms and half a dozen children and a couple of dogs trailing him.

A deep hole was finally located and Mr. Wills gently lowered his charge into the water.

OPPOSITION TO BERRY SCHEME

Open Letter From L. R. Wilson Attacks Proposed Marketing Plan

Opposition to the proposed small fruit and rhubarb marketing scheme and the three-man board set up to administer it are contained in an open letter prepared by L. R. Wilson, managing director of Fraser Valley Growers Limited, Mission City.

Though this plan was started on its way at meetings of co-operatives throughout the producing areas last year, it has not reached the final stages yet.

Mr. Wilson's letter indicates that there is a good deal of dispute among growers as to the efficiency of the proposed scheme.

The reasons for his opposition to the plan are contained in the following extracts from his letter.

"After much deliberation, a proposed small fruit and rhubarb marketing convention of the B.C. Coast Growers' Association held in New Westminster on February 8 and 9. This was a convention of delegates from the various organizations comprising the association, and the scheme so presented endorsed the principal of a five-man board, giving equitable representation to all districts concerned, and endorsed also a specific pooling clause, which was one of the most contentious matters at all times.

"One large association, however, who had consistently opposed a marketing scheme, flooded this meeting with their growers and with the assistance of one of the Vancouver Island representatives, continuously objected, when the scheme was brought before the meeting, to anything but a three-man board, and after hours spent in a futile effort, the chairman withdrew the matter entirely from the meeting, and his successor, at the eleventh hour, presented a scheme adopting the principle of three men chosen at large, and naming a provisional board.

"This was hurried through and voted on by the meeting as a whole. The organization that had opposed all efforts to formulate a scheme acceptable to all, comprised 90 per cent of the meeting. The present scheme was instigated in the non-representative manner referred to above.

"Subsequent to this meeting, a clause was inserted naming the present provisional officers as a permanent board until 1936, with powers to function without a poll being taken. This was the beginning of the crude awakening of a large number of growers to the fact that the scheme afforded opportunities of this kind, which were against all principles of democracy of those whose interests were at stake.

"A large number of growers' representatives from all parts of the lower mainland met at a meeting called in New Westminster on February 25, when protests were made against the proposed scheme. Regardless of continual protests, however, the provisional board has deliberately endeavored to force this scheme on the growers, and their representatives to the Dominion marketing board for the approval of carrying out their dictatorial motives have been of the most secretive character.

"Are you willing to entrust the successful marketing of your product to this class of men?"

"The present scheme, a raspberry deal, through a 'central selling agent' with the entire car lot shipments distributed exactly in the same manner as proposed by this scheme, has been one of the worst in the history of the raspberry industry. The cause has been attributed to the poor quality of the berries, due to wet weather, and the fact that the consumer had not the price to pay. Can any board regulate these unfortunate conditions? The only sensible answer is 'no'.

"The provisional chairman of the proposed board has already stated that the operation of the scheme will cost the growers from $14,000 to $16,000 per year. Is it worth it?"

"Although a proper marketing scheme may have its advantages do not overlook these facts. No marketing board, regardless of who they are, can create markets. The volume of distribution at any price is only equal to the ability of the consumer to buy.

"Berries are the most difficult product there is to distribute and vary from other commodities inasmuch as they cannot be held back in the anticipation of markets, but must first be picked and markets found afterward.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX - I have been asked to give you my views on the subject of the woman's earnings for their own. Some of the women of this community took this seriously and outlined a schedule of prices that ought to be paid wives for the various duties they perform and in most cases the total reached a figure far above the average man's entire income. It seems strange to me that you do not advocate teamwork between husbands and wives instead of the principle of division. The great majority of families have a limited income, which must be apportioned out to meet their needs. These matters must be freely discussed between husband and wife and it makes little difference as to which one passes out the money.

I agree with you that money is the cause of the domestic strife we see all about us and that seems to be the case whether the man or the woman has it. I have known a poor man who married a rich woman who did not pay for it through the nose. Warn the boys that when they see a girl with money approaching to flee for their lives. But if you would be of service to your generation, preach teamwork and co-operation instead of division to the domestic life of the nation.

Answer - So I do, and I was trying in my feeble way to suggest a little co-operation in the purse-toting in the family when I said that every wife was entitled to a little of the money she earned for her own behoof and benefit, and to be given to her at her just due and not as a gratuity.

I never even entertained the wild suggestion that wives should present an itemized bill to their husbands for the services they rendered in the home. For, as you say, if they were paid for at the current rate for such services when rendered by outsiders, they would bankrupt any but the rich. Good cooks, for instance, in most places get from $10 to $15 a week. Laundrywomen $3 to $4 a day. Scrub women as much. Baby nurses and nursery governesses come high. Trained nurses are $6 to $7 a day. Purchasing agents have their 10 per cent, and so on and so on, to say nothing of social secretaries, who make and keep hubby's place in society, entertain his friends, write his letters and lie for him over the telephone. Figure it out for yourself.

No woman who is a real woman and a real wife wants to be paid for any of these things. They are all part of her business of being a wife, of trying to help the man she loves and to make life comfortable and happy for him and for their children. She does not put a price tag on her services. She does not think of her sacrifices in terms of money. She gives and gives because it is a joy to her to give all that she has to those she loves.

But no matter how much a wife loves her husband she is still a human being, with natural human instincts, and the chief of these is a desire for a little financial independence. It humiliates her to have to ask her husband for every cent she needs, and she writes at the injustice of working like a slave for a husband who never gives her one cent of the money she has earned a hundred times over.

And this is what I am trying with all my might to make husbands understand. I want to make them realize that the woman's point of view about money is no different from the man's. Every woman wants her individual pocketbook just as much as a man wants his, and her happiness and self-respect depend upon her having it just as a man's self-respect depend upon his having his.

Of course the ideal relationship between husband and wife is for them to be real partners financially as well as domestically, but very few men ever rise to this height of justice and generosity. They take their wives' labor and then talk about "supporting" them, which would be a laugh if it were not such a headache, if you get what I mean.

DEAR MISS DIX - Some of us girls got into an argument about going with boys. Should we accept invitations from boys whom we care nothing about just for the sake of having lots of dates and going places? One girl considered it two-faced and hypocritical to give a boy encouragement by her going out with him when at heart she cared nothing for him. Also, about a girl being satisfied with a boy she can have, or should she sit at home and wait until one she likes happens along?

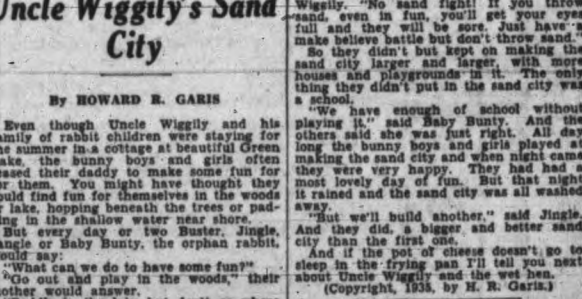

Answer - It is perfectly ridiculous to think that a girl has to be in love with a boy before she can step out to the movies or around the corner to a drugstore for an ice cream soda with him. Social life is not run on a heart-throb basis. It is a matter of inconvenience and congeniality and give-and-take-a-little-pleasure.

Any girl certainly must be besotted with vanity who thinks that every boy who speaks to her or shows her any attention is madly in love with her and wants to marry her, and that she will be doing him a deadly wrong to go out with him and thus encourage a hopeless passion if she does not entertain the same sentiments toward him.

Unless a youth has specifically declared his feelings a girl may take it for granted that he is no more in love with her than she is with him. He just likes her and finds her a jolly companion with whom to spend an evening. He likes to dance with her and she helps him have a good time when they step out together. And that is all there is to it.

I am a great believer in both girls and boys going around with as many other girls and boys as possible because this gives them a chance to look 'em over, to get acquainted with different types and find out how they react to them, and to test out their own feelings. Thus they will be able to make a much better choice of husband and wife than they would if they had only gone with some one particular girl or boy.
